

BARGAIN DAY WILL BE NEXT TUESDAY

On Tuesday of next week the merchants of Grand Rapids are going to hold another of their bargain days, much the same as the one they had last fall, and from the interest that is being taken in the matter, it is evident that the affair will be fully equal to, if not better, than the sales day that was held before.

There is nothing out of the ordinary about this sales day matter, any more than every merchant who goes into the matter marks down the price of some one article so that it is a real bargain, and as there are quite a number of merchants that go into the matter, it means that there are a number of articles that are being sold at a very low cost on this particular day. While it would not be possible for one merchant to mark all his goods down below cost and sell them that way, it is possible for each one to give one thing at a very low price and thus help to make the day an occasion of real bargains.

The last time the merchants of Grand Rapids gave a bargain day like this the people came in from miles around, and a casual visitor in the city would have thought that there was a circus in town to see the people that thronged the streets. That the day was well received by the country folks was admitted by all, and it is for this reason that the matter is being tried out again.

Much the same plan is being pursued this time as on the former occasion. Each merchant is advertising some one thing at a very low price, and those who care to may go to a store and buy just that one thing if they want to, and then go to the next place and procure another bargain. The advertisements run in another part of the Tribune makes it easy for any person to look over the list and decide whether there is any thing that they care to buy, or whether it will pay them to come to town on that day.

Don't forget the day and date and be on hand early if you want to procure some of the bargains that will be offered on that day.

Tuesday, April 11.

ADOPTED EIGHT HOUR PLAN
AT THE PAPER MILLS

Commencing Monday morning the mills of the Nekeosa Edwards Company located at Fort Edwards and Nekeosa were put on the eight hour system, or three shifts a day. Heretofore these mills have been operating 12 and 13 hour shifts in order to keep the mills operating continuously.

While the new system was put into operation Monday, it will take some little time to get things running along these lines as they will eventually be. The men are generally in favor of the eight hour shift, as it gives them more time for recreation and does not keep them confined within doors so long at a time. The mills of the Consolidated company in this city and at Byron have been on the eight hour plan for several years past, and numerous mills in Wisconsin have recently adopted the plan.

AT THE TABERNACLE.

(Contributed.)

Sunday morning witnessed large audiences at the various churches enlisted in the Nelson Campaign. Services were held in the churches instead of in the Tabernacle for the purpose of creating greater interest in the campaign. Fruits of these services were evidenced by the large crowds at the afternoon and evening services.

A meeting for women was held at 2:30 p. m. in the German Moravian church under the leadership of Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. G. H. Clark. The latter directed the exercise and the former delivered the address. Mrs. Albert Natwick sang a solo.

A large crowd of men gathered at the Tabernacle in the afternoon to hear a sermon for men by Evangelist Nelson. The subject was, "Chickens Come Home to Roost," or "Be Sure Your Sin Will Find You Out." Among other things he said: "You have a man in this town who is sixteen times worse than a criminal. But he covers his sin up. When he dies the papers will tell how good he was, what lodges he belonged to, etc. But if you are wanted to tell to what grand lodge he has gone to you would have to point down instead of up. Sin has a habit of coming around about dark and roosting in the trees of a man's life. You may think you can outrun sin but the man is not born that can outrun it. A man out in Iowa was short in his accounts. On the eve of his discovery he blew out his brains. His sin had come home to roost. Sin has no mercy on its victims. It puts him in the electric chair, on the scaffold before the firing squad. It strikes him down without mercy. There are men so foul that they can't talk decently in the presence of their own children. They ought to be quarantined and gagged. No man deserves a woman better than himself. I don't want a man to tell me a smutty story. I don't want him to take me for a hog. A man who tells a smutty tale is tending to get the drink habit. God is able to save you from evil, to make you clean and to keep you right."

In the evening the evangelist spoke on "Three Crosses" or "Sufferings of Christ." Thursday will be papermill night. At 7:10 P. M. Friday night a special service about ten minutes long will be held at Vine and Second streets.

FOR SALE.—Jersey cow, will fresh on April 14th. N. Robinson, R. 5, 2.

The editor of the Tribune has recently received an offer which, by the payment of one dollar down, and only one dollar a week for a few years, we will be able to become the admiration and the talk of the town. For the payment of this one dollar a week we will be furnished a set of books, the perusal of which will impart to us so much knowledge that when we go down the street the people will all turn around and look at us and nudge each other and say that that is the fellow that everybody has been talking about. According to the prospectus we can discuss leadership on art and literature and kindred subjects. We will know whether Michelangelo was a democrat or a prohibitionist and why, and if Shakespeare really wrote his plays or whether he had the hired man write them while resting from the farm work nights and Sundays. The prospectus would exude from us like perspiration from a negro preacher on a warm Sunday afternoon; and all for the payment of so small a sum as one dollar per week. If it wasn't for the fact that gasoline is going up right along and that we are unable to associate with any of our old friends, we might consider this matter more seriously.

COMING TO GRAND RAPIDS
WHEN THE EAGLES MEET

According to the Leader of La Crosse, the Eagles of that city are making some great preparations for the annual convention of that order which will be held in this city during June. Following is the subject of the program:

Planning to have a drill team of 17 members and a marching club of 100 in the big parade which will feature the state convention of Eagles in Grand Rapids, Wis., June 21, the La Crosse Aerle is making elaborate preparations for the annual gathering this year.

A team has been drilling in the hall of the aerle in South Fifth street for several weeks and has attained such progress that already the various movements are being put on by signal. The team will practice regularly up to the time of the convention, and when it appears at Grand Rapids will undoubtedly afford a real surprise for the hundreds of lodge members from other cities gathered at the convention. In order that the drill team may show up to the best possible advantage, the members will appear in handsome uniforms at the state convention.

Secretary C. A. Dittman said today that he was hopeful of persuading 100 members of the La Crosse lodge to join the marching club which will accompany the drill team to the state convention. The marching club will be organized, although its constitution is still being worked out. It is planned for the drill team to be carried out to add tone and life to the delegation from this city. It is proposed that a brass band be engaged to accompany the crowd to Grand Rapids. While this proposition has not been definitely decided, indications are that the plan will be carried out.

Mr. Dittman, who is grand secretary of the Wisconsin Eagles, will leave La Crosse in advance of the big delegation to attend to the multitudinous duties which devolve upon him in making final preparations for the state convention. It is planned to have the drill team marching club and band leave La Crosse Tuesday night, June 20 and arrive in Grand Rapids Wednesday morning on the day of the parade. The band will leave Grand Rapids Wednesday night and arrive home Thursday morning. The marching club and drill team will arrive home Friday morning.

Seth Whitman clerk of the town of Sigel and one of the scientific young farmers out there, was a pleasant caller at the Tribune on Friday while in the city on business connected with his office.

Seth has been keeping a tab on a patch of clover that he grew last summer and has discovered that on a two acre plot he raised enough clover to feed 31 head of cattle for 50 days. The first crop from the plot was used as hay and the second crop put into a silo. This record is a remarkable one and speaks for itself as to the fertility of our Central Wisconsin soil.

BANKERS & FAREERS HAVE GOOD MEETING

There was a time, not so very long ago, when the average banker looked upon the farmer as a person to be avoided. If he was a prosperous farmer and had money to deposit he might be all right but he was just as well not to take too many chances.

However, within the past few years things have sorta changed, and the result is that today the banker realizes that the farmer is a friend, not an enemy, and that it pays to tie up and meet with a pleasant smile. And the result is that the banker, are actually exerting themselves these days to do something for the farmer that will be of benefit to him, and consequently of benefit to the community.

The farmers and bankers recently had a meeting at Madison, and according to all accounts the meeting was a good one. There were about 450 farmers and bankers in attendance. The movement was in charge of the Agricultural Committee of the State Bankers' association and the University officials.

Besides a series of addresses on subjects relating to the production of more and better live stock, higher yielding grains, and more profitable dairy herds, demonstrations were given showing improved methods which are being followed by many Wisconsin farmers.

Special addresses were given during the conference by B. F. Harris, chairman of the agricultural committee, American Bankers Association, S. M. Smith, Janesville, president of the Wisconsin Bankers Association, J. R. Wheeler, Wisconsin representative on the Agricultural Committee of the American Bankers Association.

The largest single delegation to the conference came from Marathon county in chartered tourist sleepers. In the Wisconsin River Valley delegation, which numbered about 175, were groups of farmers from Mosinee, Grand Rapids, Waupun, Strafford, Keshonah and Danco.

Among the bankers and farmers from this county who attended the conference were J. C. Kieffer, J. T. Holland, Auburndale; Chas. R. Setz, Karn, C. E. King, Arpin; Earle Peaso, L. E. Beckman, Simon Joosten, H. A. Sampson, Grand Rapids; A. J. Kujawa, John N. Joosten, Frank Miller, Fred Piltz, Rob. Ogilvie, Rudolph.

LAW ON FISHING.

Under provisions of the amended law it is illegal to catch trout under seven inches. With the rapid approach of the season for this species of the fishery it will be of interest to the sportsman to know just what changes have been made in the laws relating to trout fishing. The same limit as to the number of trout which can be caught in a day still applies; that of forty-five. The new statute regarding the length of the trout is effect not only in upper Wisconsin, but throughout the whole state. In the counties of Ashland, Douglas, Bayfield, and Iron the season is shortened fifteen days, the opening being May 1st. Elsewhere in the state the opening is April 15th and September 1st is the closing date.

The season for bass, pike and pickerel opens on May 30th. The closed season for all game fish is now on.

The new law regarding the length of trout this season is unfamiliar to many and this announcement should serve to enlighten those unacquainted with the new statute.

WILL EXAMINE PLUMBERS

Madison, Wis.—The state board of plumbing examiners will conduct a special examination for the licensing of journeymen and master plumbers April 12th at the school of trades, Milwaukee. Plumbers are required many plumbers in cities of this class those of fourth class having a population of less than 5,000. In cities of less than 5,000 it is optional, but many plumbers in cities of this class take the examinations for license to enable them to practice their trade in larger cities.

Thus far 36 applications for journeymen and 10 for master plumbers licensed have been filed. The questions relate to provisions in the state plumbing code and to principles of design, construction, materials and workmanship in connection with plumbing and drainage. The fee for candidates taking the master plumbers examination is $10 and for journeymen $5. The examiners are W. G. Kirchhoff, Madison; J. E. Roberts, and Herman Helme, Milwaukee.

ICE MOVED ON SUNDAY.

Sunday was moving day for the ice in the river, and the large field above the dam broke up on that day and went down the river. The ice moved out in most places where the water was swift, but it had piled up just behind the dam where there was a dam, and the indications were that there might be some trouble when it did go, but no damage was done at this point whatever although some dynamite was used to break away the ice where it touched the dam in places. The Green Bay & Western kept a train of loaded cars on their bridge during the day, as there was considerable ice near that structure, and there was no telling what the result might be when the ice started to move.

SCHEDULE AT TABERNACLE

Tonight is district prayer meeting night; Thursday papermill night. All employees of the papermill are especially invited on Thursday night. Preceding the service on Friday night there will be a short address at the Wood County Bank Corner at 7:10. Saturday night is Mother's night and all are requested to wear a red or white flower or ribbon in honor of their mother.

DEATH OF A. M. PRIDE.

A. M. Pride died at his home in Tunaahaw on Monday afternoon after an illness of some length, deceased having been a sufferer from diabetes for considerable time.

Deceased was at one time a resident of this city where he was well known in the early days, having married Miss Mamie Spafford, a daughter of the late S. A. Spafford.

—Spring Maid with 50 people, mostly girls tonight.

Lloyd Rezin of Warrens was in the city on Friday, coming up to be initiated into the Masonic Lodge. He was accompanied by his father Richard Rezin.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Snyder departed on Tuesday for Montana to reside.

WANTED SOME DYNAMITE.

The Soo Line had some trouble with ice at Owen on Saturday, and the bridge located at that point was in danger of going out for some time. The company sent to this city and got a thousand pounds of dynamite from the McCauley & Pomeroy company, and also 300 caps which were placed in a private car and hurried to Owen the same afternoon. Ordinarily dynamite cannot be shipped over the railroad on Saturday, and there are several other restrictions that are supposed to be observed, but this lot went to its destination with hardly any of the red tape that usually surrounds a matter of this kind. It was a case where dynamite was more to be desired than ceremony.

LOCAL TEAM WINS
SECOND PLACE

The Grand Rapids High School Basketball team returned on Monday from Appleton where they had played several games with the other prominent teams of the state for championship and while down there defeated all comers but one, landing the title in second place in the state.

The Appleton tournament included the high school teams from Appleton, Kenosha, Fond du Lac, Menomonie, Laramie, Monroe, Madison and Grand Rapids, and represented the best of the state. The first game played was with Monroe, and while the game was a close one, and meant elimination of one of the teams from the tournament, the Grand Rapids boys came out on the long end of a 19-20 score. Thru Fond du Lac defeating Ashland, the locals were matched up on Friday night with the crack Fondy bunch who had not suffered defeat in three years. This game was fast and furious and while the score saw-sawed back and forth the Grand Rapids team, when time was called at the end of the game the score was a tie, 16-16. An extra five minutes was played to decide the game and McSwain, who had been put in the latter part of the game, annexed a field goal that won the game for Grand Rapids, the score being 18-16. This left Baraboo and Grand Rapids the only undefeated teams and Saturday night they played the final game of the tournament to decide first and second place. Baraboo had easily defeated Wittenberg the previous evening while Grand Rapids had been forced to the limit and the result was that Baraboo went into the game fresh with the locals pretty badly crippled. The game was not a spectacular one, the Baraboo bunch having it pretty much their own way, the final score being 31-13. The Baraboo team put up a good game and are well presented with multiple good baskets, but on a windy job, the second place men with silver and third with bronze.

Referee E. G. Schroeder, who was the head official during the entire tournament, picked a first and second team from the men at the tournament as follows: Forwards, Karst, Fond du Lac; Captain, Laydon, Baraboo.

Center, Sprecher, Baraboo.

Guards, W. Fitzgerald, Fond du Lac; W. Pederson, Grand Rapids.

Second Team

Forwards, Johnson, Grand Rapids; Monroe, Fond du Lac.

Center, Smith, Grand Rapids.

Guards, Bailef, Baraboo; Levine, Grand Rapids.

The result of the games played in the Milwaukee and the Appleton meet leaves the state championship honors in a rather muddled condition, Fond du Lac having been declared the champions at Milwaukee and Grand Rapids been given second place while Appleton, Fond du Lac landed in third position. It is a safe bet, however, that the local boys can hold their own with any of them in a series of games.

BARGAIN DAY WILL BE NEXT TUESDAY

On Tuesday of next week the merchants of Grand Rapids are going to hold another of their bargain days, much the same as the one they had last fall, and from the interest that is being taken in the matter, it is evident that the affair will be fully equal to, if not better, than the sales day that was held before.

Joseph Reiland was third in the race as appears by the present returns although they do not appear to be complete. The instance of Clark Lyon is reported to have won out for Assessor over W. H. Gottis. The election in the wards was as follows:

ICE MOVED ON SUNDAY.

Sunday was moving day for the ice in the river, and the large field above the dam broke up on that day and moved out in most places where the water was swift, but it had piled up just behind the ponds wherever there was a dam, and the indications were that there might be some trouble when it did go, but no damage was done at this point whatever although some dynamite was used to break away the ice where it touched the dam in places. The Green Bay & Western a trail of loaded cars on their bridge during the day, as there was considerable ice near that structure, and there was no telling what the result might be when the ice started to move.

BANKERS & FAREERS HAVE GOOD MEETING

There was a time, not so very long years ago, when the average banker looked upon the farmer as a person to be avoided. If he was a prosperous farmer he had money to deposit; he might be all right but it was just as well not to take too many chances.

However, within the past few years things have sort of changed, and the result is that today the banker realizes that the farmer is a friend, one of the kind it pays to tie to and meet with a pleasant smile. And the result is that the bankers are actually exerting themselves these days to do something for the farmer that will be of benefit to him, and consequently of benefit to the community.

The Sno line had some trouble with the bridge located at that point was in danger of coming out in some time. The company had to this city and got a dozen pounds of dynamite from the McCandless & Pomerville company, and also 300 caps which were placed in a private car and shipped to the same place. The dynamite was to be used to blow up the bridge, but it was not used.

LOCAL TEAM WINS SECOND PLACE

The Grand Rapids High School Basketball team returned on Monday from Appleton where they had played several games with the other prominent teams in the state. The team won a ship and while down they defeated local opponents but one, leading the local in second place in the state.

The Appleton tournament included local teams from Appleton, Ashland, Portage, Fond du Lac, Menomonie, Baraboo, Manitowish, Madison and Grand Rapids, and represented the best of the state. The first game played was with Menomonie, and while the game was a close one, and most of the time of the game the Grand Rapids boys came out on the long end of a 19-20 score. Then Fond du Lac defeated Appleton, the local boys were matched on Friday night with the crack Fond du Lac team who had not suffered defeat in two years. This game was fast and furious and while the score was close, the Grand Rapids boys were in the lead for most of the game, but in the end the Fond du Lac boys won by a score of 18-16. An extra five minutes was played to decide the game and Menomonie, who had been put in the latter part of the game, attacked a field goal and won the game by a score of 18-16. The Grand Rapids boys were in the lead for most of the game, but in the end the Fond du Lac boys won by a score of 18-16.

The editor of the Tribune has recently received an offer which, by the payment of one dollar down, and only one dollar a week for a few years, we will be able to become the admirer and the talk of the town. For the payment of this one dollar a week, the perusal of which will impart to us much knowledge that when we go down the street the people will all turn around and look at us and nudge each other and say that that is the fellow that everybody has been talking about. According to the prospectus we can discuss learnedly on art and literature and kindred subjects. We will know whether Michaelangelo was a democrat or a prohibitionist and why, and if Shakespeare was really a man of letters or a man of letters, and all for the price of one dollar a week. If it wasn't for the fact that gasoline is going up right along and that we would not be able to associate with any of our old friends, we might consider the matter more seriously.

VILLA RETREATING TOWARD SIERRAS

BANDIT IS DRIVEN TO FOOTHILLS BY RAPIDLY MOVING U. S. TROOPS.

EARLY CAPTURE IN DOUBT

It Is Feared Outlaw and His Followers Will Have Little Difficulty in Keeping Ahead of Pursuing Americans.

Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, Mex. (By wireless to Columbus, N. M.) March 28.—Villa is flying southwest toward the foothills of the Sierras. According to army reports received here on Monday, the rapidity of his flight is precipitating the American pursuit. All arms of the service are being used in an attempt to force the bandit into a corner.

The Mexican residents of this section, which has been ravaged time and time again by Villa bandits, are freely giving information concerning his flight, supplies, armament and strength, to the American military authorities. While much of this information has been too indefinite to be of value it is presumed that the knowledge that the Americans are kept informed as to his movements, has influenced the bandit chieftain to the greatest haste in his retreat.

Although the United States troops are following closely in his wake, so far, it is stated, no fighting has taken place.

Mexicans Aid Villa. San Antonio, Tex., March 28.—Francisco Villa's escape from the region about Namiquipa was preceded by a smart defeat administered by him to a part of the Mexican government troops and was unopposed by other detachments of the de facto government forces, according to the unofficial but credible reports reaching here on Monday.

The credence of Mexican troops that the Mexican authorities announced had been drawn across his path, gave way, according to these reports, with a willingness that indicated their cooperation with him rather than with the American forces.

Army men at department headquarters were inclined to believe reports of inefficiency and halfhearted cooperation and on Monday contemplated with speculative eye the probable future of the second phase of operations just inaugurated by the commander of the punitive expedition.

Chief Has Advantage. It was realized here that the early capture of Villa would be little better than an accident. With their knowledge of the country and with the assistance they can obtain along their route, Villa and his followers, it is feared will have no difficulty in keeping ahead of the pursuing Americans.

That Villa will be able to effect a juncture with a considerable force before he is brought to a stand again is regarded at headquarters here as probable. Canute Reyes, one of his generals, who has been operating in the vicinity of Torreon, is known to have an exceedingly mobile force that is by no means negligible and in the state of Durango it is said the Arrieta brothers are in a position to move northward to his support.

Unofficial observers have offered a theory regarded as somewhat fanciful by American military men, however, that Villa, after joining these and others, will continue his movement to the south with the hope of gathering strength as he goes, and, with Zapata and other enemies of the Carranza government, attempt once more to gain possession of Mexico City.

Want Rail Facilities. El Paso, Tex., March 28.—With the conviction that the chase of Francisco Villa was going to prove a long and tedious one, attention here was turned once more Monday night on the railroad situation. Dispatches from Washington and San Antonio, showing that the United States military authorities were becoming increasingly impatient for the completion of arrangements with Gen. Carranza for the use of the Mexican railroads, confirmed the belief held here for the last week, that the railroad problem was the present crux of the situation.

Army officers here privately admit that the question of getting adequate supplies to the forces at the front is growing serious. They say that the present system of motor transportation across the Chihuahua desert has proved entirely inadequate and as Gen. Pershing's columns push further into the dissolution of western Chihuahua the problem of getting supplies is growing acute.

The advance corps of the expeditionary force is now well over 250 miles from the frontier and every day

Value of Lost Manuscript. A Massachusetts court rules that manuscripts in transit are worth $10 a pound. That is generous. It makes a large majority of them worth more than they would be if they ever arrived.

As One Man to Another. "Women are my weakness, that's all," explained the confessed bigamist. However, he said it privately to the police captain—he didn't let any of his wives hear him.

What It Means. "The 'obey' clause in the marriage ceremony means that when the husband takes a twenty-dollar bill out of his pocket and commands his wife to take it, she must immediately comply—and she does."

Willing to Be Heroic. "Some men are so self-forgetful," said Uncle Eben, "that they're almost willing to take their share of a grip epidemic for the sake of seeing other people suffer."

Doctoring Mania. Some women are so thoroughly incultured with the doctoring mania that when baby is entirely well and the old man's gripe has disappeared, she will imagine the old cow is sick and nearly dose her to death.

Willing to Compromise. Departing Diner—"I'd like to give you a tip, waiter, but I don't have only my taxi fare left." "Waiter—" "They say, sir, that an after-dinner walk is very good for the health, sir."

presumably adds many miles of communications.

Supplies Are Ready. Thousands of tons of food stuffs, clothing, ammunition, hospital supplies and forage are in warehouses here, ready for shipment south the minute word arrives that Gen. Carranza has granted the right to use the Mexican railways.

A few hours after such information comes—it does come—several heavily loaded trains will be started to the Casas Grandes district.

Fear Villa Works Ruse. Some anxiety is felt in El Paso by American officers, who suspect that Villa has some cunning purpose in drawing the Americans into a territory about which they know less than the regions already traversed. The cavalry columns are now moving further and further away from their established lines of communication and close to a section where there is practically no water.

Gen. Gavira said the American forces would be allowed to use the Mexican telegraph line which parallels the Northwestern railroad from Juarez to Madera. All communications are to be censored, however, by Gen. Gavira at Juarez and Gen. Bertrani at Madera. On account of the censorship it will not be possible to code any of the communications.

More Troops Are Ready. Three Thousand Additional Soldiers Await Orders to Cross Frontier. Report Snipers Are Active.

Columbus, N. M., March 28.—Over 3,000 additional United States troops, now at the border, were preparing to enter Mexico on Monday. Military officials at the base camp here reiterated their belief that the Villistas would not be exterminated without a long, hard campaign. They said there was no reason to believe that Villa was surrounded by American or Carranzista troops at present.

Preparations bearing out their predictions were seen in the arrival of huge quantities of supplies of all kinds in the last twenty-four hours.

El Paso, Tex., March 28.—An unconfirmed report reached here on Monday that six American soldiers had been wounded by poison sniping near Namiquipa, and that several Mexicans had been killed or wounded by the return fire of the United States soldiers.

The report was denied by J. O. Crockett, vice-president of the Mexican Northwestern railroad, who stated he has been in constant communication with Casas Grandes and points south.

Leaving a trail of dead and dying, Villa, with remnants of his once mighty army, was fleeing southward from Namiquipa in the direction of the Sierra Thuhary mountains, according to army advisers. That Villa was killing deserters when caught and giving Mexicans the choice of the flying quid or joining him was evident from a censored report from the expeditionary forces. Villa forced thirty-five young Mexicans to join his band at El Valle under threat of execution.

Outlaws Raid Border Ranch. El Paso, Tex., March 28.—Mexican outlaws crossed the border at Fabens, twenty-two miles southeast of here, last night, and raided the ranch of C. K. Kelly, former mayor of El Paso. The ranch superintendent was severely beaten. Ten cashmen, under command of Sergeant Duran, immediately started in pursuit of the outlaws. An additional cavalry detachment at Ysleta was summoned. Another detachment under Corporal Hanson also started in pursuit. The Mexicans had a considerable start on the troops and are believed to have crossed the Rio Grande.

U. S. Aviators Are Safe. Columbus, N. M., March 28.—Lieut. Edgar S. Gorrell of the United States aero corps, who had been missing for a week, was found three miles south of Asencion by a motorcar train under Lieut. J. L. Parkinson, Twenty-first Infantry, according to reports made to military headquarters here.

Lieut. Gorrell was uninjured, but was out of gasoline and had lost his way. Lieut. Gorrell had been alone for forty-eight hours in the middle of a sand-swamp, uninhabited plateau on the borders of Lake Frederico, formerly used for a watering place for stock. He suffered only slightly from exposure to the sun. His plane was intact.

All of the eight army aviators, who left here to fly to Casas Grandes, have been accounted for.

Kenosha With Regulars in Mexico. Kenosha—Alfred Warburton, who is with the Villa expedition in Mexico, has sent a letter to his mother. It was mailed from Palomas, Mexico, on March 18. The letter tells of the invasion of Mexico by the Sixteenth Infantry, in which Warburton has been a trooper for two years.

One Good Turn Enough. There are mornings in life when one thinks that rolling over and going to sleep again, after the alarm clock has done its worst, ought to count as a good turn for the day.

Corset Saves Girl's Life. Fresno, Cal.—Miss Olga Baretti, a pretty nineteen-year-old girl of this city, owes her life to a steel stay in her corset. She was accidentally shot in the side by a 22-caliber rifle in the hands of her chum, Genevieve Berna, and the steel stayed the bullet.

The girl was standing behind Miss Berna while she was cleaning an "unloaded" gun. The trigger was pulled and Miss Baretti sank to the floor. The nose of the bullet just entered her flesh, but was held by the stay.

DEATH LIST IS 26 IN BIG RAIL WRECK

Forty Others Hurt in Triple Crash Near Amherst, O.

TOWERMAN MAY BE BLAMED

Attempted to Care for Sick Wife and Attend to Duties Without Sleep—Three Investigations Are Necessary.

Cleveland, O., March 28.—State, federal and railroad investigation of the double wreck on the Lake Shore railroad at Amherst, O., near here, which cost the lives of fully twenty-six persons and injured forty, was begun here.

Railroad officers declare the blame for the crash, which piled up the Twentieth Century flyer and two other crack Lake Shore passenger trains into a tangled heap of junk probably will be shared by two railroad employees.

How Wreck Occurred. The railroad company, in an official statement explaining the wreck, declared the first section of train No. 86, after stopping at the interlocking tower at Amherst, had started ahead at five or ten miles an hour. The second section ran into the first. Two rear cars of the first section fell over on the west-bound track just as the Twentieth Century Limited, bound for Chicago, was approaching. The Twentieth Century collided with part of the wreckage on the west-bound tracks. The Twentieth Century was derailed except for the three rear cars. All of the passengers killed or seriously hurt were in the rear car of the first section of train No. 86.

While relief parties were still digging dead bodies from the debris and doctors and nurses were rescuing trapped human beings and caring for maimed victims, the investigations were begun. Two men stood out as shaven, tragic figures that had swiftly become the objects of cross-fire investigation, luckless enough to have been actors in the melodramatic spectacle, which sprang out of the fog of early morning hours.

London, March 27.—Sinking of the British liner Minneapolis in the Mediterranean by a submarine has been confirmed. A late dispatch states, however, that all on board the vessel were saved with the exception of eleven men who were killed by the explosion that shattered the steamer's hull.

The Minneapolis was used by the British government as a transport and it is reported that it was destroyed near the spot where the French auxiliary cruiser La Provence was torpedoed.

Many in Hospitals. Scattered over many miles are men, women and children suffering with serious injuries or minor hurts. They are in hospitals in Ellyria and Lorain, a few miles away, in houses thrown open for succor by people in the village of Amherst and farmers near by, in Cleveland hotels and in relatives' homes.

And many, escaping wholly or in part, scattered East and West, hurrying from the scene as it driven by a combination of dread and thankfulness to put miles between themselves and the spot where so many lives were crushed out.

Indescribable confusion existed for hours as hundreds plunged into the rescue work. Identification of bodies, torn and mangled, remained a puzzle that more than once resulted in the names of survivors being coupled with victims.

WAITE KILLED PECKS CONGRESS TO DECIDE

"THE MAN FROM EGYPT MADE ME DO IT," HE DECLARES TO GOTHAM OFFICIALS.

RAVES OF JEKYLL-HYDE

Dentist Says He Gave Both Victims Germs and Fed Poison Also to His Father-in-Law—Police Seek Undertaker Who Embalmed Body.

New York, March 30.—Dr. Arthur Waite, who confessed on Tuesday that he killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hannah Peck, with disease germs and murdered his father-in-law, John E. Peck, with arsenic.

In making the confession he laid the groundwork for his defense on the plea of mental irresponsibility. He attributed two natures to himself—a good and an evil one—and said that the evil nature, a stranger to his real self, dominated him when he committed the crimes.

The essential part of the dentist's confession was made to District Attorney Swann and Assistant District Attorney Manousco and Brothers in the presence of former Assistant Attorney Walter R. Deuel, who has been engaged as counsel for Doctor Waite.

The lawyers walked into the private room of the alcoholic ward, to which Doctor Waite had been removed, and found the man lying on a bed rubbing his hand across his forehead, seemingly in a shaken and uncertain condition.

"Don't you remember me?" asked Mr. Brothers. "You talked to me last Friday."

"Did I?" asked Doctor Waite. There was a moment's pause before Doctor Waite spoke again.

"Oh, but that doesn't matter," he said. "It's all over now. I did it. I killed Mrs. Peck and Mr. Peck. The man from Egypt made me do it. He was after me for a long time. I couldn't shake him off. I wasn't able to get rid of him until last night."

"He's gone now, but I couldn't get away from him for a long time. I don't know what his name was. I asked him and he didn't tell me. I was afraid of him. I told Clara about him."

"By Clara?" Doctor Waite meant his wife, who now is in Grand Rapids. Representatives of the district attorney's office are searching for the undertaker who embalmed the body of Peck. Mr. Swann declared Waite had told him that he had made an agreement with the undertaker (that for a consideration of $5,000 the latter would testify that he had used arsenic in the fluid with which he embalmed Peck's body).

Earlier in the day Doctor Waite talked freely to his brother and Raymond C. Schneider, the private detective employed by the Peck family.

He described himself as a personification of Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, saying that for many years he had struggled with a good nature against an evil personality that many times dominated him and drove him to acts of which his better self, the self known in tennis clubs and to his friends, was utterly abhorrent.

BANDIT IS DRIVEN TO FOOTHILLS BY RAPIDLY MOVING U. S. TROOPS.

EARLY CAPTURE IN DOUBT

It is feared Outlaw and his followers will have little difficulty in keeping ahead of pursuing Americans.

Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, Mex. (By wire to Columbus, N. M.) March 28.—Villa is flying southwest toward the foothills of the Sierras. According to army reports received here on Monday, the rapidity of his flight is precipitating the American pursuit with arms of the service are being used in an attempt to force the bandit into a corner.

The Mexican residents of this section, which has been ravaged time and time again by Villa bandits, are freely giving information concerning his flight, supplies, armament and strength, to the American military authorities. While much of this information has been made public, it is of value it is presumed that the knowledge that the Americans are kept informed as to his movements, has influenced the bandit chiefly to the greatest haste in his retreat.

Although the United States troops are following closely in his wake, so far, it is stated, no fighting has taken place.

Mexicans Aid Villa. San Antonio, Tex., March 28.—Francisco Villa's escape from the region about Nampulpa was preceded by a smart deed administered by him to a part of the Mexican government troops and was unopposed by other elements of the de facto government forces according to the unofficial but credible reports reaching here on Monday.

The Gordon of Mexican troops that the Mexican authorities announced had been driven across his path, gave way, according to these reports, with a willingness that indicated their opposition to him rather than with the Mexican forces.

Army men at department headquarters were inclined to believe reports of inefficiency and half-hearted cooperation and on Monday contemplated with speculative eye the probable future of the second phase of operations just inaugurated by the commander of the military expedition.

Chief Has Advantage. It was noted here that the early capture of Villa would be little better than an accident. With their knowledge of the country and with the assistance they can obtain along their route, Villa and his followers, it is feared will have no difficulty in keeping ahead of the pursuing Americans.

That Villa will be able to effect a junction with considerable force before he is brought to a stand again is regarded at headquarters here as probable. Gaute Reyes, one of his generals, who has been operating in the vicinity of Torreon, is known to have an exceedingly mobile force that is by no means negligible and in the state of Durango it is said the American forces are in a position to move northward to his support.

Unofficial observers have offered a theory regarded as somewhat fanciful by American military men, however, that Villa, after joining these and others, will continue his movement to the south with the hope of gathering strength as he goes and with Zapata and other enemies of the Carranza government, attempt once more to gain possession of Mexico City.

Want Rail Facilities. El Paso, Tex., March 28.—With the conviction that the chase of Francisco Villa was going to prove a long and tedious one, attention here was turned once more Monday night on the railroad situation. Dispatches from Washington and San Antonio, showing that the United States military authorities were becoming increasingly impatient for the completion of arrangements for the use of the Mexican railroads, confirmed the belief held here for the last week, that the railroad problem was the present crux of the situation.

Army officers here privately admit that the question of getting adequate supplies to the forces at the front is growing serious. They say that the present system of motor transportation across the Chihuahua desert has proved entirely inadequate and as Gen. Pershing's columns push further into the desolation of western Chihuahua the problem of getting supplies is growing acute.

The advance corps of the expeditionary force is now well over 250 miles from the frontier and every day a Value of Lost Manuscript. A Massachusetts court rules that manuscripts lost in transit are worth $10 a pound. That is generous. It makes a large majority of them worth more than they would be if they ever arrived.

As One Man to Another. "Women are my weakness, that's all," explained the confessed blizzard. However, he said it privately to the police captain—he didn't let any of his wives hear him.

What It Means. "The 'obey' clause in the marriage ceremony merely means that the husband takes a twenty-dollar bill out of his pocket and commands his wife to take it, she must immediately comply—and she does."

Willing to Be Heroic. "Some men are so self-forgetful," said Uncle Eben, "that they're almost willing to take their share of a grip epidemic for the sake of some other people suffer."

Doctoring Mania. Some women are so thoroughly incoupled with the doctoring mania that when baby is entirely well and the old man's gripe has disappeared, she will imagine the old doc is sick and nearly dose her to death.

Willing to Compromise. Departing Diner.—"I'd like to give you a tip, waiter, but I don't have any money left." "Waiter—" "They do say, sir, that an after-dinner walk is very good for the 'wealth' sir."

presumably adds many miles of communication.

Supplies Are Ready. "Thousands of tons of food stuffs, clothing, ammunition, hospital supplies and forces are in warehouses here, ready for shipment south the minute word arrives that Gen. Carranza has granted the right to use the Mexican railroads."

A few hours after such information comes if it does come—several heavily loaded trains will be started to the Casas Grandes district.

Fear Villa Works Ruse. Some anxiety is felt in El Paso by American officers who suspect that Villa has some cunning purpose in drawing the Americans into a territory about which they know less than the regions already traversed. The cavalry columns are now moving further and further away from their established lines of communication and close to a section where there is practically no water.

Gen. Gaiter said the American forces would be allowed to use the Mexican telegraph line which parallels the Northwestern railroad from Juarez to Madera. All communication is to be censored, however, by Gen. Gaiter at Juarez and Gen. Bernhart at Madera. On account of the censorship it will not be possible to code any of the communications.

MORE TROOPS ARE READY

Three Thousand Additional Soldiers Await Orders to Cross Frontier. Report Snipers Are Active.

Columbus, N. M., March 28.—Over 3,000 additional United States troops, now at the border, were preparing to enter Mexico on Monday. Military officials at the camp here reflect their belief that the Villistas would not be exterminated without a long, hard campaign. They said there was no reason to believe that Villa was surrounded by American or Carranzista troops at present.

Preparations bearing out their predictions were seen in the arrival of large quantities of supplies of all kinds in the last twenty-four hours.

Report Snipers Near Nampulpa. El Paso, Tex., March 28.—An unauthorized report reached here on Monday that six American soldiers had been wounded by means of sniping near Nampulpa, and that several Mexicans had been killed or wounded by the return fire of the United States soldiers.

The report was denied by J. G. Crockett, vice-president of the Mexican Northwestern railroad, who stated he has been in constant communication with Casas Grandes and points south. Leaving a trail of dead and dying Villistas with thousands of his own men, Villa was heading southward from Nampulpa in the direction of the Sierra Parramane mountains, according to army advisers. That Villa was killing deserters when caught and giving Mexicans the choice of the firing squad or joining him was evident from a censored report from the expeditionary forces. Villa forced thirty-five young Mexicans to join his band at El Valle under threat of execution.

Outlaws Raid Border Ranch. El Paso, Tex., March 28.—Mexican outlaws crossed the border at Fabens, twenty-two miles southeast of here, last night. They were led by C. J. Kelly, former mayor of El Paso. The ranch superintendent was severely beaten. Ten cavalrymen, under command of Sergeant Burns, immediately started in pursuit of the outlaws. An additional cavalry detachment at Ysleta was summoned. Another detachment under Corporal Hanson also started in pursuit. The Mexicans had a considerable start on the troops and are believed to have crossed the Rio Grande.

U. S. Aviators Are Safe. Columbus, N. M., March 28.—Lieut. Edgar S. Gorrell of the United States army corps, who had been missing for a week, was found by the military south of the border of Lake Frederico, formerly used for a watering place for stock. He suffered only slightly from exposure to the sun. His plane was intact. All of the eight army aviators, who left here to fly to Casas Grandes, have been accounted for.

Kenosha With Regulars in Mexico. Kenosha—Alfred Warburton, who is with the Villa expedition in Mexico, has sent a letter to his mother. It was mailed from Palomas, Mexico, on March 18. The letter tells of the invasion of Mexico by the Sixteenth infantry, in which Warburton has been a trooper for two years.

I don't believe in anybody who has not had a life. It means a complete absence of character.—Mr. Justice Ayers.

His Position. Gibbs—"Bilson" expressed a good deal of sympathy for poor Blank. Did you try him for a contribution?" "Dibbs—" "No, I knew Bilson; he's like the letter 'G'—first in play and last in help."—Washington Star.

Sometimes. "Dar's a silver 'lute' to every cloud," said Uncle Eben. "But someboddy takes it and stands around lookin' fur it, 's'ld o' 'lustin' a um-brella."—Washington Star.

Loss to Agriculture. It is estimated that the annual loss to agriculture in this country from the depredations of insects and rodents alone is $10,000,000,000—about $1 a month for every man, woman and child in the United States.

One Good Turn Enough. There are mornings in life when one thinks that rolling over and going to sleep just now, ought to count as a good turn for the day.

DEATH LIST IS 26 IN BIG RAIL WRECK

Forty Others Hurt in Triple Crash Near Amherst, O.

TOWERMAN MAY BE BLAMED

Attempted to Care for Sick Wife and Attend to Duties Without Sleep—Three Investigations Are Necessary.

Cleveland, O., March 30.—State, federal and railroad investigation of the double wreck on the Lake Shore railroad at Amherst, O., near here, which cost the lives of fully twenty-six persons and injured forty, was begun here.

Railroad officers declare the blame for the crash which piled up the Twentieth Century Dyer and two other crack Lake Shore passenger trains into a tangled heap of junk probably will be shared by two railroad employees.

How Wreck Occurred. The railroad company, in an official statement explaining the wreck, declared the first section of train No. 89, after stopping at the interlocking at five or ten miles an hour. The second section ran into the first. Two rear cars of the first section fell over on the west-bound track just as the Twentieth Century Limited, bound for Chicago, was approaching. The Twentieth Century collided with part of the wreckage on the west-bound tracks. The Twentieth Century was derailed except for the three rear cars. All of the passengers killed or seriously hurt were in the rear car of the first section of train No. 89.

While relief parties were still digging dead bodies from the debris and doctors and nurses were rescuing injured human beings and caring for maimed victims, the investigations were begun. Two men stood out as shaken, tragic figures that had swiftly become the objects of cross-fire investigation, luckless enough to have been actors in the melodramatic spectacle, which sprang out of the fog of early morning hours.

Survivors of the disaster streamed into Cleveland as a port of refuge all day, bringing with them tales of horror and of magic escapes. Grim scenes they had witnessed shocked and stupefied women among them and stunned men.

Survivors Go to Cleveland. One is a towerman, Ernst, dozing in his lonely cupola as speeding trains slid by him—a man trying to perform his duties of watching over thousands of lives in the railroad's care and under the hand of a sleepless hours caring for his wife, who Sunday had given birth to a baby. The other is Herman Hower, engineer of the second section of the crushed flyer, who escaped from the cab of his engine after it had plowed into the first section—a man who saw no red warning signal through the fog and relied upon the mysteriously halted first train.

These are the men who became the center of an investigation by New York central officers, led by General S. D. Parsons, and a local inquiry was begun by Coroner Garver of Lorain county, while State Railroad inspectors Packard and Hoffman rushed to the scene to conduct the state public utilities' inquiry, and Safety Experts Helkamp, Ellis and McAdam started for Amherst to begin a federal investigation for the interstate commerce commission.

26 Bodies Recovered. Out of the chaos at the spot a mile out of Amherst rescue parties spent a struggling day taking bodies out of the debris. Twenty-six were recovered, but others were believed to have remained hidden under the tons of wreckage strewn over four tracks and wrecked the thirty feet in the air.

Many in Hospitals. Scattered over many miles are men, women and children suffering with serious injuries or minor hurts. They are in hospitals in Myria and Lorain, a few miles away, in houses thrown open for succor by people in the village of Amherst and farmers near by, in Cleveland hotels and in relatives' homes.

And many, escaping wholly or in part, scattered East and West, hurry from the scene as it driven by a combination of dread and thankfulness to put miles between themselves and the spot where so many lives were crushed out.

Indescribable confusion existed for hours as hundreds plunged into the rescue work. Identification of bodies, torn and mangled, remained a puzzle that once resulted in the names of survivors being coupled with victims.

Carnegie Kin Leaves $10,000,000. Pittsburgh, Pa., March 30.—The will of Mrs. Lucy Carnegie, sister-in-law of Andrew Carnegie, and one of the wealthiest women in Pittsburgh, has been filed here for probate. "Indeed!" exclaimed the indignant policeman. "An' whin ye put yure clout to yure nose an' wiggled yure fingers at me, phwat was that for?" "Oh, your wet, just telling you that the pains had left me."

WAITE KILLED PECKS CONGRESS TO DECIDE

"THE MAN FROM EGYPT MADE ME DO IT," HE DECLARES TO GOTHAM OFFICIALS.

RAVES OF JEKYLL-HYDE

Dentist Says He Gave Both Victims Germs and Fear. Poison Also to His Father-in-Law—Police Seek Undertaker Whom Embalmed Body.

New York, March 30.—Dr. Arthur Warton Waite confessed on Tuesday that he killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hannah Peck, with disease germs and murdered his father-in-law, John E. Peck, with arsenic.

In making the confession he laid the groundwork for his defense on the plea of mental irresponsibility. He admitted two murders to himself—a good and an evil one—and said that the evil nature, a stranger to his real self, dominated him when he committed the crimes.

The essential part of the dentist's confession was made to District Attorney Swann and Assistant District Attorneys Mangrove and Brothers in the presence of former Assistant Attorney Walter R. Doud, who has been engaged as counsel for Doctor Waite.

The lawyers walked into the private room of the alcoholic ward, to which Doctor Waite had been removed, and found the man lying on a bed rubbing his hand across his forehead, seemingly in a shaken and uncertain condition. "Do you remember a Peck?" he asked. "My brothers. 'You talked to me last Friday.'"

"Did I?" asked Doctor Waite. There was a moment's pause before Doctor Waite spoke again.

"Oh, but that doesn't matter," he said. "It's all over now. I did it. I killed Mrs. Peck and Mr. Peck. The man from Egypt made me do it. He was after me for a long time. I couldn't shake him off. I wasn't able to get rid of him until last night."

"He's gone now, but I couldn't get away from him for a long time. I don't know what his name was. I asked him and he didn't tell me. I was afraid of him. I told Clara about him."

By "Clara" Doctor Waite meant his wife, who now is in Grand Rapids. Representatives of the district attorney's office are searching for the undertaker who embalmed the body of Peck. Mr. Swann declared Waite had told him that he had made an agreement with the undertaker that for a consideration of $9,000 the latter would testify that he had used arsenic in the fluid with which he embalmed Peck's body.

Earlier in the day Doctor Waite talked freely to his brother and Raymond C. Schindler, the private detective employed by the Peck family. He described the manner of the confession of Doctor Jeckyll and Mr. Hyde, saying that for many years he had struggled with a good nature against an evil personality that many times dominated him and drove him to acts of which his better self, the self known in tennis clubs and to his friends, was utterly abhorrent.

PRESIDENT PLANS TO LET LAWMAKERS ACT FIRST ON LINER ATTACK.

Count Von Bernstorff Said to Be Responsible for Attitude of Germany and Recent Retirement of Tirpitz—No Americans Lost on Sussex.

BERLIN TO DISAVOW ACT

Count Von Bernstorff Said to Be Responsible for Attitude of Germany and Recent Retirement of Tirpitz—No Americans Lost on Sussex.

Washington, March 29.—It was an authoritative statement on Monday that the president would communicate the situation fully to congress before taking any definite steps which might lead to a rupture of diplomatic relations as a result of the attacks on the steamers Sussex and Englishman.

It was stated that should it be shown that a German submarine attacked the Sussex, Germany would disavow the act, offer reparation, punish the submarine commander and satisfy the United States that the act was in violation of instructions.

It was also stated that the German ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, was mainly responsible for the recent retirement of Grand Admiral von Tirpitz, who is understood to have been eliminated because of his views on submarine warfare after Count von Bernstorff had made certain recommendations to the imperial chancellor, Von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee said, after seeing President Wilson, that all facts would be awaited before action was taken and that in their absence he refused to extend an opinion.

Senators and representatives who called at the White House reflected the view that the situation was serious.

Consular Agent Whitman at Houlton reported that he was informed by French officials that a piece of wreckage resembling a part of a torpedo had been found on the channel near Sussex.

Dover, March 29.—That the channel boat Sussex was "struck by an enemy torpedo" was the finding of a coroner's jury at an inquest over the bodies of victims brought here.

Information obtained by the Americans on the Sussex were injured dangerously.

Of the three American survivors of the Sussex who are in a hospital at Dover, only one—George Crocker of Pittsburgh, Pa.—is in a serious condition. His skull is fractured by a falling mast. He regained consciousness and his physician believes he will recover.

Charges Plot in Rumors. President Wilson Warns U. S. That "Persons on Border Spread Reports to Force Intervention."

Washington, March 28.—President Wilson on Saturday issued a statement to counteract the effect of the alleged work of whisper influences seeking to bring about intervention in Mexico.

He charges there is a traffic in falsehoods in connection with conditions on the border and in Mexico and asserts that intervention is designed "in the interest of certain American owners of Mexican property."

He warns Americans to be on their guard against these influences and not to credit the sensational stories coming from the border.

G. O. P. Senators Aid Wilson. Decide to Leave Wilson Unhindered in Mexico—Enough Troops on the Border.

Washington, March 28.—Threatened complications in the Mexican situation disappeared on Monday when the senate Republicans decided to accept the administration's assurances that sufficient troops were on the border for protection of American interests and not to carry the agitation for more troops further.

Major General Funston's dispatches revealed new developments in the pursuit of Villa.

French Troop Ship Sunk. Transport Reported to Have Hit Mine—Eleven Killed When Steamer Minneapolis Was Destroyed.

Berlin (by wireless), March 29.—Reports have been received from Athens that a French transport with troops on board from Saloniki had struck a mine and sunk. Seventy-three persons were rescued, the Overseas News agency says.

London, March 29.—It was announced on Monday that eleven persons were killed when the British steamship Minneapolis, formerly in the New York-London service, was sunk last week in the Mediterranean.

German Steamer Sunk. Copenhagen, March 29.—The German steamship Grot was sunk by a mine. All the members of the crew were lost. The Grot was a small ship of 208 tons, sailing from Geestemunde.

SYNOPSIS.

Humphrey Van Weyden, critic and dilettante, finds himself about the smiling schooner Ghost, Captain Wolf Larsen. He makes him cabin boy for the kind of the sea. The schooner, however, is not a pleasure boat, but a whaler. Van Weyden, who has a sea-sickness, makes it his business to get the story of the schooner. He sketches the story of the schooner, which is a whaler, and the life of the crew. He sketches the story of the schooner, which is a whaler, and the life of the crew. CHAPTER XX—Continued.

We left the table to go on deck. For a steamer was a welcome break in the monotony of the sea on which we floated, while the conviction that it was Death Larsen and the Macedonia added to the excitement. The stiff breeze and heavy sea which had sprung up the previous afternoon had been moderating all morning, so that it was now possible to go on deck. The hunting promised to be profitable. We had sailed since daylight across a sea barren of seals, and were now running into the herd.

The smoke was still miles astern, but overhauling us rapidly, we lowered our boats. They spread out and struck a northerly course across the ocean. Now and again we saw a sail lower, heard the reports of the shotgun, and saw the sail go up again. The seals were thick, the wind was dying away, everything favored a big catch. As we ran off to get our lead position of the last few boats, we found the ocean fairly carpeted with sleeping seals. They were all about us, thicker than I had ever seen them before, in twos and threes and bunches, stretched full length on the surface and sleeping for all the world like so many lazy young dogs.

Under the approaching smoke the hull and upperworks of a steamer were growing larger. It was the Macedonia. I read her name through the glasses as she passed by scarcely a mile to starboard. Larsen looked savagely at the vessel, while Maud Brewster was curious.

"Where is the trouble you were so sure was breaching up, Captain Larsen?" she asked gayly.

He glanced at her, a moment's amusement softening his features.

"What did you expect? That they'd come aboard and cut our throats?"

"Something like that," she confessed. "You understand, seal-hunters are so new and strange to me that I am quite ready to expect anything."

He nodded his head. "Quite right, quite right. Your error is that you failed to expect the worst."

"Why, what can be worse than cutting our throats?" she asked, with pretty naïve surprise.

"Cutting our purses," he answered. "Man is so made these days that his capacity for living is determined by the money he possesses."

"Who steals my purse steals trash," she quoted.

travelling about their behavior. They lowered sails, shot seals and hoisted sails again, and continued on their way as if I had never seen them do. The Macedonia repeated her performance of yesterday, "hogging" the sea by dropping her line of boats in advance of ours and across our course. Fourteen boats require a considerable spread of ocean for comfortable hunting, and when she had completely lapped our line she continued steaming into the northeast, dropping more boats as she went.

"What's up?" I asked Wolf Larsen, unable longer to keep my curiosity in check.

"Never mind what's up," he answered gruffly. "You won't be a thousand years in finding out, and in the meantime just pray for plenty of wind."

"Oh, well, I don't mind telling you," he said the next moment. "I'm going to give that brother of mine a taste of his own medicine. In short, I'm going to play the hog myself, and not for one day, but for the rest of the season—if we're in luck."

"And it's not?" I queried.

"No, it's not," he laughed. "We simply must be in luck, or it's all up with us."

The smoke of the Macedonia had dwindled to a dim blot on the north-eastern horizon. Of the steamer herself nothing was to be seen. We had been looting all day, and now, our sails shaking half the time and spilling the wind, and twice for short periods, we had been down to. But there was no more loading. Sheets were trimmed, and Wolf Larsen proceeded to put the Ghost through her paces. We ran past our line of boats and bore down upon the first whale boat of the other line.

"Down that flying jib," Mr. Van Weyden, Wolf Larsen commanded. "And stand by to back over the jibs."

I ran forward and had the downhaul of the flying jib all in and fast as we slipped by the boat a hundred feet to leeward. The three men in it gazed at us suspiciously. They had been hogging the sea, and they knew Wolf Larsen, by reputation at any rate. I noted that the hunter, a huge Scandinavian sitting in the bow, held his rifle, ready to hand, across his knees. It should have been in its proper place in the rack. When they came opposite our stern Wolf Larsen greeted them with a wave of the hand, and cried:

"Come on board and have a 'gam'!"

"To gam," among the sealing schooners, is a substitute for the verbs "to visit," "to gossip." It expresses the garrulity of the sea and is a pleasant break in the monotony of the life.

The Ghost swung around into the wind, and I finished my work forward in time to run aft and lend a hand with the main sheet.

"You will please stay on deck, Miss Brewster," Wolf Larsen said, as he started forward to meet his guest. "And you, too, Mr. Van Weyden."

The boat had lowered its sail and run alongside. The hunter, golden-bearded like a sea-king, came over the rail and dropped on deck. He glanced from Wolf Larsen to me, noted that there was only the pair of us, and then glanced over his own two men who had joined him. Surely he had little reason to be afraid. He lowered his Goliath above Wolf Larsen. At the top of the companionway he reassured himself with a glance down at his host and the pair descended into the cabin. In the meantime, his two men, as was the wont of visiting sailors, had gone forward into the forecabin to do some visiting themselves.

Suddenly, from the cabin came a great, choking howl, followed by all the sounds of a furious struggle. It was the leopard and the lion, and the lion made all the noise. Wolf Larsen was the leopard.

"You see the sacredness of our hospitality," I said bitterly, to Maud Brewster.

She nodded her head that she heard, and I noted in her face the signs of the same sickness at sight or sound of violent struggle from which I had suffered so severely during my first weeks on the Ghost.

The sounds from below soon died away. Then Wolf Larsen came alone down. There was a slight flush under his bronze, but otherwise he bore no signs of the battle.

peated, this time in sharper tones. "Who knows? You may have to sail with me for a time," he said, quite softly, with a sullen threat that belied the softness, as they moved slowly to comply, "and we might as well start with a friendly understanding. Lively now! Death Larsen makes you jump better than that, and you know it!"

Their movements perceptibly quickened under his coaching, and as the boat swung inboard I was sent forward to let go the jibs. Wolf Larsen, at the wheel, directed the Ghost after the Macedonia's second weather boat.

Under way, and with nothing for the time being to do, I turned my attention to the situation of the boats. The Macedonia's third weather boat was being attacked by two of ours, the fourth by our remaining three; and the fifth, turn about, was taking a hand in the defense of its nearest mate. The fight had opened at long distance, and the rifles were cracking steadily. A quick, snappy sea was being kicked up by the wind, a condition which prevented fine shooting; and now and again, as we drew closer, we could see the bullets zip-zipping from wave to wave.

The boat we were pursuing had squared away and was running before the wind to escape us, and in the course of its flight, to take part in repulsing our general boat attack.

Attending to sheets and tackles now left me little time to see what was taking place, but I happened to be on the poop when Wolf Larsen ordered the two strange sailors forward and into the forecabin. They went sullenly, but they went. He next ordered Miss Brewster below, and smiled at the instant horror that leapt into her eyes.

"You'll find nothing gruesome down there," he said. "Only an unhurt man severely made, only a ring-bolt. Bullets are liable to come aboard, and I don't want you killed, you know."

Even as he spoke, a bullet was deflected by a brass-capped spoke of the wheel between his hands and screeched off through the air to windward.

"You see," he said to her; and then to me, "Mr. Van Weyden, you will take the wheel!"

Maud Brewster had stepped inside the companionway so that only her head was exposed. Wolf Larsen had procured a rifle and was throwing a cartridge into the barrel. I begged her with my eyes to go below, but she snarled and said:

"We may be feeble land-creatures without logs, but we can show Captain Larsen that we are at least as brave as he."

He gave her a quick look of admiration.

"I like you a hundred per cent better for that," he said. "Books, and brains, and bravery. You are well-rounded, a blue-stocking fit to be the wife of a pirate captain. Ahem, well, discuss that later," he smiled, as a bullet struck solidly into the cabin wall.

I saw his eyes flash golden as he spoke, and I saw the terror mount in her own.

Hittherto Regarded as Waste, They Are to Be Turned Into a Marketable Commodity.

Considering the fact that in the neighborhood of 75,000,000 tons of cotton seed have been destroyed annually as worthless and only in the way, the possibilities of a plant capable of converting them into paper and artificial silk are readily comprehended. A plant is now being erected at Greenwood, Miss., which will be devoted to the preparation of pulp from cotton stalks, and it is said that owing to the stronger fibers of the cotton stalk pulp, paper manufactured from it is considerably stronger in proportion to its thickness and weight than that produced from the usual wood pulp.

It has been the custom to cut and burn the stalks, after the cotton-picking season has ended, at a cost of about a dollar a ton. The use of cotton pulp is not limited to the making of paper. The stalk fibers have been found capable of withstanding the nitrating process involved in the making of gun-cotton. The fibers also produce an artificial silk, motion-picture films, and such chemicals as pyrocellulose, alcohol and acetone.

Soup Kitchens for Birds.
The establishment of "soup kitchens" for the birds in the cemeteries and city parks has been proposed by A. J. Watson, scout commissioner, who offers to have Boy Scouts maintain them if the scout necessary is furnished free, states the Kansas City Star. He also calls on all scouts to feed the hungry birds about their homes until the snow has melted fully.

Scouts are taught to study bird life and protect it. To feed the birds scouts have found the best way is to place pieces of seed in trees and keep grain and seeds in boxes also nailed to trees.

FLOODS OVER STATE CAUSE HEAVY LOSS

LARGE AREA DELUGED BY HIGH WATER CAUSED BY RECENT RAINFALL.

TWO MEN KNOWN DROWNED

Green, Lafayette, Grant and Iowa Counties Suffer Most—Damage to Property in State Will Be Heavy.

Milwaukee—One man has been drowned, hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property has been damaged or destroyed and train traffic throughout the western and southern part of Wisconsin blocked as a result of floods.

L. A. Kelly of Mineral Point was drowned with his team, when he attempted to cross the Pecatonica river. A companion escaped.

The exact amount of the damage cannot be determined at this time. Rivers, bursting from their beds, have swept over the surrounding country, inundating miles of farm lands causing big losses on livestock farms in the richest sections of the state.

In Darlington the Pecatonica river left its bed and swept through the city carrying away all of the property of the Darlington Lumber company and flooding the lower floors of the hotels and business houses.

Miles of railroad track have been swept away or buried under six to eight feet of water and train travel has been stopped on the main line of the Milwaukee and taking in Juneville, Mineral Point, Monroe and Plattville.

The flood was general in many sections of Green, Lafayette, Grant and Iowa counties.

In the vicinity of Plattville reports of damage indicated that at least two zinc mines will be compelled to suspend operations on account of inundations.

Both east and west of Monroe the lowlands have been transformed into a vast lake, aggregating in width about fifty miles.

The flood is severe between Calumet and Mineral Point, a distance of ten miles. At Fond du Lac an ice jam at the bridges of the Soo line and Milwaukee road has caused the waters of the river to back up, flooding the surrounding country. Dynamite was resorted to, but the jam remains unbroken.

Drowned Near South Wayne.
South Wayne, William Orr, 20 years old, drowned near South Wayne while walking along the right-of-way of the Milwaukee railroad, which was covered with water as a result of the flood which swept southwestern Wisconsin. With a friend, Orr was on the way from Dill to South Wayne. As they attempted to cross the trestle at the junction of the Illinois Central and Milwaukee roads, they were washed into the water, and before help could arrive Orr drowned. His companion managed to reach safety unassisted.

MARQUETTE FUND IS RAISED
Ten-Day Campaign Closes When Leaders Announce That $503,000 Had Been Secured.

Milwaukee—Marquette university's ten-day campaign came to a close when the leaders announced that $503,471 had been raised as an endowment fund for the institution. At the start of the movement a mark of $500,000 was set as the fondest hope of the hundreds of workers.

Of the total, $100,000 was donated by the state, the balance was not received. Chairman John H. Puellicher said that this sum was deposited at the Marshall & Healey bank.

It is believed that when all of the money promised is paid, the total will be nearer the $600,000 mark.

Following the report of the workers, Mr. Puellicher presented the Rev. Herbert C. Noonan, S. J., president of Marquette, with a gold watch, patterned after the clock which announced the daily collections.

To Rebuild Oshkosh Normal.
Oshkosh—As soon as arrangements can be made that portion of the Oshkosh State Normal school destroyed by fire will be rebuilt, work will be started on that portion before the new building. This was given out by Duncan McGregor, Plattville, president of the board of normal regents, who arrived here to look over the situation with President Keith. Mr. McGregor believed there would be ample funds to start reconstruction. The loss on the buildings recently burned is about $160,000 and $200,000. The school has 600 students and regular sessions are being held in Oshkosh churches.

New Academy Head Named.

Mr. Daggett was born in Vermont. He was a teacher in several places in Illinois, later going to Neenah. He became principal of the high school in 1860, and held that position for three years at Neenah. GIRLS AID RECRUITING WORK
Captain of Company H, W. N. G., Has Little Trouble Signing Up Promising "Rookies."

Monroe—Capt. A. E. Mitchell, commanding Co. H, Wisconsin National Guards, is experiencing little trouble in recruiting the company up to full strength in accordance with the orders of Adjutant Gen. Holway.

The readiness with which the young men of the community are signing the muster rolls is partly due to the fact that twenty young women have served notice on their men friends that they will be welcome visitors at their homes in the future on condition only that they are not "slackers." As a result of the action on the part of the young ladies it is probable a waiting list will be formed after the company has been recruited up to the full membership, with few exceptions every eligible young man in the city having announced his intention to enlist.

FARMER FINDS BAG OF GOLD
Richard Lutze Finds Several Hundred Dollars Which Is Believed to Have Been Stolen.

Sheboygan—Richard Lutze, a farmer of Centerville, this county, while coming to Sheboygan found a large bag of gold on the road to Pigeon Hill, one mile north of Sheboygan. Fearing the money had been stolen and that he might be accused of taking some, he took the bag to a local bank without opening it. When opened it was found to contain several hundred dollars. No amount had been secured from the local banks, and it is believed the money was hoarded by a farmer, who lost it while coming to the city, or that it had been stolen and was lost by the thief.

GIRL STUDENTS ARE KILLED
Two Members of Chicago University Struck by Train Near Baraboo.

Baraboo—Miss Lola B. Whitmore, aged 22, of Uteia, N. Y., and Miss Caroline Duror, aged 21, of New York, graduates of the college department of Chicago university, who have been visiting near Baraboo, were killed instantly by a North-Western train three miles south of here while walking along the tracks. The accident occurred on a short curve of the track, where there is an abrupt rock cliff on one side and Devils Lake on the other. Both bodies were hurled into the lake, a distance of fifteen feet.

Liquor Men Plan Convention.
Menasha—Initial steps were taken at a meeting to prepare a program for the convention of the State Retail Liquor Dealers' Protective association to be held here in July. The meeting was attended by Secretary A. A. Raiser of Appleton and Oscar H. Morris of Milwaukee. The convention will last three days.

Monroe Rushes Motor Trucks Loaded With Provisions to Stricken District—Fear Epidemic in Flood District.

Monroe—Mineral Point, Darlington, South Wayne, Winslow and other points west of this city, marooned by the flood, are appealing to Monroe for food supplies. They declare the situation is serious and that suffering will result before the railroads are able to get trains through. Although local supplies are low and the time of the arrival of shipments is merely conjecture, local merchants express a willingness to divide their stocks with the suffering towns. Motor trucks were loaded here for the stricken region and boats were used on certain Pecatonica river points. Fears of an epidemic in the flooded towns are being expressed.

SHERIFF FINDS SAW IN CAKE
Wife of Prisoner Uses Crude Method to Aid Husband to Effect His Escape.

Wauwatosa—What is believed to have been a crude attempt to effect the escape of her husband from the Wauwatosa county jail, where he is confined pending trial on the charge of murder, has resulted in the arrest of Mrs. John Lakso.

Several days ago Mrs. Lakso on one of her frequent visits to the jail arrived with a large cake and a large sized bun, which she said she wanted her husband to have.

Becoming suspicious of the size of the edibles, Sheriff Chase insisted on cutting both the cake and the bun. When the cake and bun were cut a hack saw and knife were found. The bun was filled with grease. Mrs. Lakso is held on bail of $8,000.

HELD FOR TRAIN ROBBERY
Couple Arrested Near Grand Rapids Charged With Being Implicated in Holdup in W. Va.

Grand Rapids—In a raid on a little house in the outskirts of Grand Rapids three United States postal inspectors took into custody a man and a woman calling themselves Mr. and Mrs. John Evans, and recovered, it is said, $5,000 in cash and $25,000 in securities which they say is a part of the $150,000 obtained by four robbers when they held up a train near Stanton, W. Va., six months ago. One man, and possibly two, who have been living with the Evanses, eluded the federal officers, and in their flight they carried with them a traveling bag in which, the federal inspectors now believe, was the rest of the money and securities taken in the robbery.

Ever Eat Grape-Nuts?

There's a vast army of physical and mental workers who do.

One reason—its delicious nut-like flavor.

Another—it is easily and quickly digested—generally in about one hour.

But the big reason is—Grape-Nuts, besides having delicious taste, supplies all the rich nutrient of whole wheat and malted barley, including the "vital" mineral salts necessary for building brain, nerve and muscle.

Always ready to eat direct from the package, Grape-Nuts with cream or good milk is a well balanced ration—the utmost in sound nourishment.

POTASH MADE OF FELDSPAR

Discovery, It Is Said, Will Enable America to Produce All the Amount Needed.

The European war has brought the United States face to face with the problem of supplying its own potash. Several new methods of providing a substitute for German fertilizer have been brought to the attention of the government. The most promising of these is that patented by a Canadian, which provides for the extracting of potash from ordinary feldspar. The feldspar is heated with limestone and iron oxide at a temperature of about 2,200 degrees Fahrenheit, which produces a partly fused mass that is easily decomposed by a weak acid. From this product the potash salts can be readily extracted for further purification.

Another method of obtaining potash will be tried out at a New Orleans distillery where molasses is used in large quantities. In the distilleries where molasses is fermented it is said that more than one hundred and six tons of potash is wasted daily, and it is this waste the New Orleans company is endeavoring to forestall. It is possible to make fertilizer from this otherwise worthless material at a price that will meet competition even after the war is over.

ECLIPSE CAST RANGE

The Eclipse way forces the heat to pass under all six lids before escaping. When cooking or ironing in the summer the entire top of the range can be kept hot without heating the oven. This is not possible in other ranges.

On ordinary ranges the flames skip half the top, pass almost directly over the fuel and only three lids are hot enough for cooking. You really have only half a range.

That's good advice. First, because it is the sure way; second, because for the most of us it is the ONLY way. A step at a time, one dollar piled up beside another, careful, conservative, saving—these things will bring you gradually but surely up the ladder of success. Men fail because they get in too big a hurry, too anxious to grab at the golden apples hanging just out of reach. Stick to your ladder, stick to your job. Stick to your saving habit. BELGIAN FLAG DAY APRIL 8th, 1916

The following letter from Mrs. William Cunningham Story, President General of the Daughters of the American Revolution:

Dear Madam Regent:

The National Board of our society has decided to assist the "C. R. B." (Commission for Relief in Belgium) in organizing a "Flag (Tag) Day" for the relief of the war sufferers in occupied Belgium and Northern France. These sufferers number about 9,000,000 people, 3,000,000 of whom are entirely or in part destitute. The day chosen is the 8th of April, the anniversary of King Albert's birthday.

It is hoped in connection with the entire matter, that you, as Chapter Regent, will direct generally the distribution of the flags seeing that there are none left unattended. There will also be a reserve quantity of flags sent directly to you to be distributed at your discretion to those who may wish additional quantities, or to extra workers who need not be members of our society.

I hope, however, that we will have your full cooperation and wholehearted assistance in carrying out this great and good work which will reflect the greatest credit and honor on our Society since it will be so broadly in accordance with the principles of our entire organization.

It seems to me that this is a splendid opportunity for us to show our patriotism in actual service and to take the only part which we as a great neutral nation, can take in this world struggle.

Faithfully yours,
Daisy Allen Story,
President General N. S. D. A. R.

In assisting the Commission of Belgian Relief the Daughters of the American Revolution are performing a very patriotic work. There are 100,000 in the National Society and flags have been sent to all members to be sold April 8th and worn April 8th and 9th. Prayers are requested in all churches Sunday, April 9th, as well as offerings taken up for Belgian Relief. The amount received by the C. R. B. will be used for food and clothing.

One ration for one person for one day costs seven cents and consists of three thick slices of bouillon or pint of soup. A long line of hungry people stand for hours in line at all distributing stations in all weather, waiting for their turn to come. Most of them are mothers and fathers who have children who are partly nourished in all churches Sunday, April 9th, as well as offerings taken up for Belgian Relief. The amount received by the C. R. B. will be used for food and clothing.

It is estimated that approximately 90,000,000 people in America have done NOTHING for the war sufferers. They have made no sacrifices. We are prosperous and happy; it is our country's great opportunity to demonstrate not only its patriotism, but its high ideals; and it is your opportunity to take some small part in alleviating the suffering that the war has brought to these innocent helpless and defenseless people.

In assisting the Commission of Belgian Relief the Daughters of the American Revolution are performing a very patriotic work. There are 100,000 members will distribute one million flags on that day and it is hoped that the local Chapter will be able to sell all the flags sent. Seven cents is the cost of the ration for one day, and each flag sold for that amount or more will mean the relief of one person for a day. Therefore every one is urged to buy at least one flag. All persons accepting flags for Belgian relief emphasize our need of preparedness.

When the flags are offered by the ladies of the D. A. R. on Saturday, April 8th, kindly give as generously as you can and it will be greatly appreciated by us.

Louise H. MacKinnon,
Regent Abidawagum Chapter.

NEWS NOTES FROM WISCONSIN PLACES

Stevens Point seems to be undergoing quite a siege of scarlet fever and the apparently quite mild but little trouble is being experienced outside of the scare that goes with an epidemic of this sort. One case of small pox was discovered in the factory of Miss Cary Frost where there is a small pox hospital, and it was necessary to close the factory and fumigate the place as a number of the employees had been exposed.

Stevens Point Journal: The Sellers assignment case continues to increase in scope and the total amount involved was estimated at $150,000. This was the pointed statement of one of the attorneys connected with the case. Securities that will be greatly depreciated in value when the property covered by them is appraised are beginning to come in. These consist chiefly of mortgages on property worth much less than the face of the mortgage. It is estimated that there may be possibly $30,000 worth of such depreciated securities, covering property that is, in reality, worth perhaps $5000 or $7000. Such security was received on Wednesday with a face value of $1500 but covering property worth no more than $600 or $700.

Theodore King, a resident of Stevens Point, hanged himself on Friday evening on the porch of his house because he was afraid of being placed on the black list. The man had come in an intoxicated condition that evening and caused a disturbance, and his wife had called her father to quell the row, and the old gentleman went down town to secure the services of a physician and when the men returned they found the body of King hanging on the porch. King had taken a shawl strap and buckled it around his neck and then tied the strap around his neck and slowly strangled himself to death. His wife said that her husband had been from where the house was hanging. King had carried the strap about in his pocket for some time and threatened to hang himself with it.

Charles Esemann was burned to death in his photography studio at Wausau Saturday afternoon. By standers knew that Esemann was in the building but the flames had spread so rapidly that there was no possibility of anyone entering the building. Various circumstances in connection with the fire would indicate that death was not unexpected to the victim. A young man by the name of Nelson was in the studio when the fire started, and when he left the room he saw the flames blazing. He tried to leave the room and closed the door after Nelson, who later stated that there was an assortment of weapons lying on the bed, all of which were loaded. After the fire was extinguished the photographer was found lying across the bed, dead.

To clean this range just wipe off the white porcelain parts. The polished top requires no blacking, so practically no effort is required to keep the Joy Eclipse clean and bright. This saves you many minutes of disagreeable labor every day.

ECLIPSE

CASE RANGE

The Eclipse way forces the heat to pass under all six lids before escaping. When cooking or ironing in the summer the entire top of the range can be kept hot without heating the oven. This is not possible in other ranges.

On ordinary ranges the flames skip half the top, pass almost directly out the flue and only three lids are hot enough for cooking. You really have only half a range.

We have a limited supply of attractive booklets giving practical recipes, and VALUABLE INFORMATION on the proper care and operation of our range. Cut and secure a copy before they are all gone. They are free.

Begin at The Bottom

That's good advice. First, because it is the sure way; second, because for the most of us it is the ONLY way. A step at a time, one dollar piled up beside another, careful, conservative, saving—these things will bring you gradually but surely up the ladder of success. Men fail because they get in too big a hurry, too anxious to grab at the golden apples hanging just out of reach. Stick to your ladder, stick to your job. Stick to your saving habit. The fellow who goes up like a sky rocket usually comes down like a thousand of brick.

BELGIAN FLAG DAY

APRIL 8th, 1916

The following letter from Mrs. William Canning Story, President General of the Daughters of the American Revolution:

Dear Madam Regent:

The National Board of our society has decided to assist the "C. R. B." (Commission for Relief in Belgium) in organizing a "Flag (Tag) Day" for the relief of the war sufferers in France. These sufferers number about 9,000,000 people, 3,000,000 of whom are entirely or in part destitute. The day chosen is the 8th of April, the anniversary of King Albert's birthday.

It is hoped in connection with the entire matter, that you, as Chapter Regent, will direct generally the distribution of the flags seeing that there are none left unattended. There will be a reserve quantity of flags sent directly to you to be distributed at your direction to those who may wish additional quantities, or to extra workers who need not be members of our society.

I hope, however, that we will have your full cooperation and whole hearted assistance in carrying out this great and good work which I feel will reflect the greatest credit and honor on our Society since it will be so broadly in accordance with the principles of our entire organization.

It seems to me that this is a splendid opportunity for us to show our patriotism in a neutral service and thus take the only part which we as a great neutral nation, can take in this world struggle.

Faithfully yours,
Daisy Allen Story
President General N. S. D. A. R.

In assisting the Commission of Belgium Relief the D. A. R. are performing a very patriotic work. There are 100,000 in the National Society and flags have been sent to all members to be sold April 8th and worn April 8 and 9th. Prayers are requested in all churches Sunday, April 9th as well as offerings taken up for Belgian Relief. The amount received by the C. R. B. will be used for food and clothing.

One ration for one person for one day costs seven cents and consists of three thick slices of bread and one pint of soup. A long line of hungry people stand for hours in line at all distributing stations in all weather, waiting for their turn to come. Most of them are mothers and fathers who have children who are partly nourished, many compelled to return to their homes for lack of food. Eighteen hours must elapse before these people can again hope to get anything more to eat. There is no other channel by which help can be sent to these stricken people and except for the "C. R. B." they must perish.

It is estimated that approximately 90,000,000 people in America have done nothing for the war sufferers. They have made no sacrifices. We are prosperous and happy; it is our country's great opportunity to demonstrate not only its patriotism, but its high ideals; and it is your opportunity to take some small part in alleviating the suffering that the war has brought to these innocent helpless and defenseless people.

In assisting the Commission of Belgium Relief the Daughters of the American Revolution are performing a very patriotic act. The 100,000 members will distribute one million flags on that day and it is hoped that the local Chapter will be able to sell all the flags sent. Seven cents is the cost of the ration for one day, and each flag sold for that amount or more will mean the relief of one person for a day. Therefore every one is urged to buy at least one flag. All persons accepting flags for Belgian relief emphasize our need of preparedness.

When the flags are offered by the local Chapter, D. A. R. on Saturday, April 8th, kindly give as generously as you can and it will be greatly appreciated by us.

Louise H. MacKinnon,
Regent Adakawagan Chapter.

NEWS NOTES FROM WISCONSIN PLACES

Stevens Point seems to be undergoing quite a siege of scarlet fever and small pox, altho most of the cases are apparently quite mild and the latter trouble is being experienced outside of the sear that goes with an epidemic of this sort. One case of small pox was discovered in the factory of Miss Cary Frost where there were a number of girls employed, and it was necessary to close the factory and fumigate the place as a number of the employees had been exposed.

Stevens Point Journal: The Sellers assignment case continues to increase in scope and the total amount involved may ultimately reach $150,000. This was the pointed statement of one of the attorneys connected with the case. Securities that were greatly depreciated in value when the property covered by them is appraised are beginning to come in. These consist chiefly of mortgages on property worth much less than the face of the mortgages. It is estimated that there may be possibly $30,000 worth of such depreciated securities, covering property that is, in reality, worth perhaps $6000 or $7000. Such a security was received on Wednesday with a face value of $1500 but covering property worth no more than $600 or $700.

Theodore King, a resident of Stevens Point hanged on Friday evening on the porch of his house because he was afraid of being placed on the black list. The man had come home in an intoxicated condition that evening and caused a disturbance, and his wife called her father to the aid. The old gentleman went down town to secure the services of an officer and when the two men returned they found the dead body of King hanging on the porch. The man was strangled and then strangled himself around a post and then tied the strap around a post and slowly strangled himself to death. His wife sat in the house only a few feet from where the dead man was hanging. King had carried the strap about in his pocket for some time and threatened to hang himself with it.

Charles Eseman was burned to death in his photographic studio at Waupaca Saturday afternoon. By-standers knew that Eseman was in the building but the flames had spread so rapidly that there was no possibility of anyone entering the building. Various circumstances in connection with the fire would indicate that death was not unwelcome to the victim. A young man by the name of Nelsen was in the studio with Eseman when the fire started, which was from a gasoline stove and when he left the room he saw the stove ablaze but Eseman refused to leave the room. Eseman later stated that there was an assortment of weapons lying on the bed, all of which were loaded. After the fire was extinguished the photograph was found lying across the bed, dead.

LISTEN TO WHAT THE SAILORS SAY.

SAILORS are not the only critical judges of chewing tobacco.
Real tobacco satisfaction didn't hit some men until they heard of W-B CUT Chewing—the long shred Real Tobacco Chew—and now it's nothing but W-B CUT
Chewing for them.
Give W-B CUT Chewing a quality test yourself. Take a small chew —and notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.

Why pay Tire Bills for Others— —i. e., for RECKLESS Drivers

AMERICANS who want their money's worth,—who dislike to pay for the reckless-driving extravagance of others,—in the price of their own
Tires, should sit up and take notice of following FACTS:
The current Goodrich "Fair-List" price on Tires, is based upon what it costs the largest, and best equipped,
Rubber Factory in America to produce them.
No "insurance" Premium added to the NORMAL
retail price of Goodrich Tires, in order to protect the Reckless Driver at the expense of the Careful Driver, through a fancy List Price which is high enough to absorb
that Premium.
The excess Mileage each Goodrich Tire is reasonably certain to deliver, when given reasonable care in driving, thus becomes clear "Value" to the Owner of GOODRICH
Tires.
Money can't make, and can't buy, better Tires of Fabric construction, than Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires, as Test will prove.
And, money can't buy the B. F. Goodrich Co. to produce Tires which would discredit the 263 other lines of Rubber Goods made by the B. F. Goodrich Co., for which its name stands Sponsor.

COMPARE prices on Goodrich "Fair-List" Tires
with present prices on any other responsible Tires in the field, bearing in mind that NO
"LARGER-SIZED" Tires (type for type and size for size)
than Goodrich Black-Treads, are made in America.
Then, Test out at least ONE pair of Goodrich black-
tread Tires, on their per-DELIVERED-Mile cost to you, against any other Tires in the field, at any price, and—
able by the Result.
Why (if YOU are not a Reckless Driver) should YOU pay MORE than the "BUSINESS" price of the Goodrich
Tire, for ANY Fabric Tire in the field?
Get a silver of the new Goodrich "Barefoot" Rubber from your nearest Goodrich Dealer or Branch.

During the spring freshet, when the snow is leaving the ground nearly every one who has occasion to cross the bridge takes a glance at the water gauge to see how the water is standing, and for the purpose of comparing it with former readings. On Thursday morning those who noticed the gauge saw that the water stood at the six foot mark. Those who had occasion to cross an hour or two later, saw that the water had risen one foot and was now at the seven foot mark. There was immediately warnings of a flood, for if the river would rise a foot within a couple of hours,
the chances were that it was setting back a record. Those who had occasion to cross again in the afternoon, took another look at the gauge, expecting to find the water hovering around the eight foot mark.
Imagine their surprise when they found that it had gone back to the six foot mark, with everything moving along at its customary rate.

LITTLE GIRL BADLY SCALDED
Pittsville Record.—Little Irene
Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Wm. Wagner of the 2nd ward was badly scalded about the face and particularly the eyes, Friday last from a pail of hot water which she had taken from the stove.
The little lady had placed a two quart pail of water on the stove to heat, for the purpose, as she explained, "to help her mother scrub the floor." The cover was on the pail and as she lifted it off the stove the cover came off and the steam scalded her about the face and eyes.
Further trouble arose when she dropped the pail and the water from it splashed again in her eyes and on her face.
The scald is severe. The little eyes were closed entirely and remained so for many days. It is this feature of the accident that is bothering the attending physician, Dr. Boyer. The eyes for a number of days could not be opened so that the injury to them could be determined. She is also badly scalded about the face.

DR. GODDARD will be at the HOTEL WITTER at GRAND RAP-

THE TRUTH--and the PROOF

"WORDS AND PROMISES ARE ONLY GOOD WHEN BACKED UP BY DEEDS"

This axiom is just as true today as it was when Socrates uttered it hundreds of years ago.
And I attribute my success as a specialist, principally to the fact, that I never attempt to treat cases that are in curable, and second, that I back up my claims by absolute proof.

HERE IS THE PROOF
They Say I Cure. Do You Believe Them?
WRITE TO THEM AND SATISFY YOURSELF. Such proof cannot be manufactured or imitated.

Little Sumico, Wis., 1-8-12.
Dear Doctor:—
After taking seven treatments, I am entirely cured of rupture which I had for six years. I did not lose a moment's time from my work, suffered no pain or inconvenience.
Am satisfied in every way. —You may refer to me.

ARTHUR VIRTUES,
R. F. D. No. 1, Little Sumico, Wis.

Black Creek, Wis., 2-17-13.
Dear Doctor:—
It is with pleasure that I write you to say that after treating with you I am completely cured of Chronic Appendicitis and Gall Stones.
Other doctors wanted to operate.
I weight 175 lbs. more than I did when I started treatment. —I was sent to you by a lady you cured of Gall Stones two years ago. —You may refer to me at any time.

MISS MARTHA SCHINKE,
R. F. D. No. 33, Box 4,
Black Creek, Wis.

Cured of Neurasthenia.
Jan. 8, 1915.
Dear Doctor:—
This is to tell you that I am now in good shape and that I feel warm and comfortable this winter, instead of cold all the time as I was last winter. I thought that I was lost when I thought that I was that there was no hope for my getting well; what a change this winter! I can do a good day's work as well as anyone and have gained my vitality and strength. I look well and am actually a new man. Our local doctor failed to do me any good and I am mighty glad I came to you for treatment for I am certainly a well man now. You may refer to me anyone wishing to hear from one whom you have treated. I am glad to recommend you.

JOHN CALLAN,
Route 22, Hortvortville, Wis.

Beaver Dam, Wis., Nov. 13, '15.
J. W. Post,
Milwaukee Wis.
Dear Sir:—
Answering your letter of the 20th
I am pleased to say that Dr. N. A.
Goddard's treatments have been entirely satisfactory. I consider myself cured of my rupture and before taking my treatment I made careful investigation of previous cases where he claimed to have had good results.
I have never worn a truss since and have no bad effects or annoyance.
Very truly yours,
C. A. STARKWEATHER,
Beaver Dam, Wis.

Cured of Appendicitis.
April 30, 1915.
Dear Doctor:—
My daughter, who is 13 years old, was taken ill with appendicitis about one year ago, and had in all three attacks. I called in two different Doctors to see her, and both said she had appendicitis and both advised immediate operation, but I decided to consult you first. We came to see you at Marshallfield, November 25, 1914, and began treatment at that time.
My daughter began to improve right away and has been steadily getting better ever since. She has been under your treatment for six months and was never in better health and I am satisfied that she is cured to stay cured, thanks to your skill. I am glad that I did not allow her to be operated upon until I had seen you and I can recommend you to all who are afflicted in a similar way. You have treated my child satisfactorily and honestly and I am grateful to you for excellent service.

F. J. REICHEL,
R. R. 2, Brillion, Wis.

I have scores of other letters in my possession which I can show you but

LISTEN TO WHAT THE SAILORS SAY.

THE REAL TOBACCO

THAT'S RIGHT—A LITTLE

SATISFACTION.

YES, WE CUT CENTS LONGER THAN THE
CHEW OF ORDINARY TOBACCO.

YOU GET THAT?

SAILORS are not the only critical judges of chewing tobacco.

Real tobacco satisfaction didn't hit some men until they heard of W-B CUT Chewing—the long shred Real Tobacco Chew—and now it's nothing but W-B CUT
Chewing for them.

Give W-B CUT Chewing a quality test yourself. Take a small chew
—and notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.

Why pay Tire Bills for Others— —i. e., for RECKLESS Drivers

AMERICANS who want their money's worth—who dislike to pay for the reckless-driving extravagance of Others—in the price of their own
Tires, should sit up and take notice of following FACTS:—
The current Goodrich "Fair-List" price on Tires, is based upon what it costs the largest, and best equipped,
Rubber Factory in America to produce them.

No "Insurance" Premium added to the NORMAL
retail price of Goodrich Tires, in order to protect the Reckless Driver at the expense of the Careful Driver, through a fancy List Price which is high enough to absorb
that Premium.

The excess Mileage each Goodrich Tire is reasonably certain to deliver, when given reasonable care in driving,
thus becomes clear "Value" to the Owner of GOODRICH
Tires.

Money can't make, and can't buy, better Tires of Fabric construction, than Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires, as Test will prove.

And, money can't buy the B. F. Goodrich Co. to produce Tires which would discredit the 260 other lines of Rubber Goods made by the B. F. Goodrich Co., for which its name stands Sponsor.

COMPARE prices on Goodrich "Fair-List" Tires
with present prices on any other responsible
"LARGER-SIZED" Tires (type for type and size for size)
than Goodrich Black-Treads, are made in America.

Then, Test out at least ONE pair of Goodrich black-
tread Tires, on their per-DELIVERED-Mile cost to you, against any other Tires in the field, at any price, and—
able by the Result.

Why (if you are not a Reckless Driver) should YOU pay MORE than the "BUSINESS" price of the Goodrich
Tire, for ANY Fabric Tire in the field?

Get a sliver of the new Goodrich "Barefoot" Rubber from your nearest Goodrich Dealer or Branch.

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO.
Akron, Ohio.

NOTICE.
"No Concern in America, made, or sold, during this latest fiscal year, carry any major brand-name of the B. F. Goodrich Co. without the Goodrich name, and the Goodrich name, still underlies this."

Cole Younger, 72 years old, the famous outlaw of the border times, died at his home in Missouri, last week. He was captured at Northfield Minn., in 1876, after robbing a bank and killing the cashier and was sentenced to life in state prison. He was pardoned for good conduct in 1891.
He has since lived a devout Christian life and peaceful citizen. He was unmarried.

It is many a year since there has been enough interest in local politics so that there has been rival political meetings held in the city as was the case on Monday evening when the Briere forces held forth at the opera house and the Ellis men at the Amusement hall. There were between four and five hundred people at each of the meetings so that honors were about evenly divided.

J. W. Arney has made arrangepany of Milwaukee to manufacture a convertible billiard table. The table is the table is one that very closely resembles a library table under ordinary circumstances, but which in a very few minutes can be changed into a pool or billiard table. The table is to be sold for home use, and if properly introduced will no doubt become quite popular. Mr. Arney has invented a number of amusement devices of more than passing merit.

Marshfield Times.—Dr. Henry Wahle, who has practiced medicine and surgery in Marshfield for nearly twenty years sold his office furniture and equipment to Dr. A. Mason last week and departed for an unknown destination, presumably in the west. In a letter to his friends he stated that he was leaving Marshfield for good. On Saturday he boarded a Burlington train at St. Paul for his destination. Before leaving he disposed of certain property, and also made provision for the settlement of financial obligations. Dr. Wahle has been prominent in professional and political circles in the county for years, and his departure is really regretted.

Thursday morning some who noticed the gauge saw that the water stood at the six foot mark. Those who had occasion to cross an hour or two lat-foot and was then at the seven foot mark. There was immediately vis-rise a foot within a couple of hours,

the chances were that it was setting out to break a record. Those who had occasion to cross again in the afternoon, took another look at the gauge, expecting to find the water further up. To their surprise, they found that it had gone back to the six foot mark, with everything moving along at its customary rate.

Average Jones

of Samuel Hopkins Adams

Mr. A. V. R. Jones—Average Jones, his friends called him—was a young man of about 25, with a good deal of the dynamic activities of life. At the suggestion of Walter, owner of an important and decent newspaper, he opened offices in Astor court and went in for following up queer advertisements in the newspapers and tracing down fraudulent advertisers. Business boomed.

From his inner sanctum, Average Jones stared obliquely out upon the whirl of Fifth avenue and mused upon a paragraph which had appeared in all the important New York morning papers of the day before.

REWARD—$200. REWARD FOR INFORMATION as to where the "Red Dot" was killed in office of Malcolm Dorr, Stengel Building, Union Square, March 22.

"That's too much money for a dog," decided Average Jones.

Slipping on his coat he walked briskly down the avenue, and entered a gloomy old office building. Stepping from the elevator at the seventh floor, he paused underneath this sign:

MALCOLM DORR, Analytical and Consulting Chemist. Hours 10 to 4.

Entering, Average Jones found a fat young man, with mild blue eyes, sitting at a desk.

"Mr. Dorr, I am an expert on advertising, and I want that one thousand dollar reward."

The chemist pushed his chair back and stared at him in silence.

"You are very fond of dogs, Mr. Dorr?"

"Oh? Oh, yes. Yes, certainly," said the other mechanically.

Average Jones smiled with almost affectionate admiration at the crease around the knee of his carefully pressed trousers.

"Mr. Dorr," he drawled, "who—er—owned your dog?"

"Why, I—er—did," said the startled chemist.

"Who gave him to you?"

"A friend."

"Quite so. Was that—er—friend who—er—offered the reward?"

"What makes you think that?"

"This, to be frank: The minute you answered my question as to whether you cared for dogs, I knew you didn't. Mr. Dorr, who—er—has been—er—threatening your life?"

The chemist swung around in his chair.

"What do you know?" he demanded.

"Nothing, I'm guessing. It's a fair guess that a reasonably valuable bribe isn't presented to a man who cares nothing for dogs without some reason. The most likely reason is protection. Is it in your case?"

"Yes, it is," replied the other, after some hesitation.

"And now the protection is gone. Don't you think you'd better let me in on this?"

"Let me speak to my—my legal adviser first."

He called up a downtown number on the telephone and asked to be connected with Judge Elverson.

"If that is United States District Attorney Roger Elverson, tell him that it is A. V. R. Jones who wants to know."

Almost immediately Average Jones was called back from the hallway, whither he had gone.

"Elverson says to tell you the whole thing," said the chemist—"in confidence, of course."

"Understood. Now, who is it that wants to get rid of you?"

"The Paragon Pressed Meat company."

Average Jones became vitally concerned in removing an infinitesimal speck from his left cuff. "Ah," he commented, "the Canned Meat Trust. What have you been doing to them?"

"Sold them a preparation of my invention for deodorizing certain by-products used for manufacturing purposes. Several months ago I found they were using it on canned meats that had gone bad, and then selling the stuff."

"Would the meat so treated be poisonous?"

"Well—dangerous to any one eating it habitually. I wrote, warning them that they must stop."

"Did they reply?"

"A man came to see me and told me I was mistaken. He hinted that if I thought my invention was worth more than I received, his principals would be glad to take the matter up with me. Shortly after I heard that the Federal authorities were going after the Trust," so I called on Mr. Elverson."

"Mistake Number One. Elverson is straight, but his office is full of leaks than a sieve."

"That's probably why I found my private laboratory reeking of cyanide fumes a fortnight later," remarked Dorr dryly. "I got to the outer air alive, but not much more."

"Where is this laboratory?"

"Over in Flatbush, where I live—or did live. Within a month after that a man sneaked up behind me and shot at me. The police told me to be sure and not let the newspapers know. Then they forgot it."

Average Jones laughed. "Of course they did. Didn't you take any other precautions?"

"Oh, yes. I reported the attempt to Judge Elverson. He gave me the two dogs."

"Two?"

"Yes. Rags and Tatters. Both killed right here in this room."

Average Jones became suddenly very much worried about the second button of his coat. "Er—where were you?" he drawled.

"I was here when Tatters got his death. I had gone to the washroom at the farther end of the hall when Rags was poisoned."

"Was there evidence of poison?"

"Pathological only. In Tatters' case it was very marked. He was dozing in a corner near the radiator when I heard him yelp and saw him snapping at his belly. It was like strychnine poisoning. Before I could get a veterinary here he was dead."

"What about the other dog?"

"Rags? That was the day before yesterday. We had just come over from Flatbush and Rags was nosing around in the corner—"

"Was it the same corner where Tatters was attacked?"

"Yes, near the radiator. He seemed to be interested in something there when I left the room. I was gone not more than two minutes."

"Lock the door after you?"

"It has a special spring lock which I had put on myself."

Average Jones crossed over and looked at the contrivance. Then his glance fell to a huge, old-fashioned keyhole below the new fastening.

"You didn't use that larger lock?"

"No. I haven't for months. The key is lost, I think."

Retracing his steps the investigator sighted the hole in the radiator, and shook his head.

"It's not in range, he said. 'Go on.' As I reached the door on my return, I heard Rags yelp. He was pawing wildly at his nose. The veterinary didn't believe it was strychnine. Said the attacks were different. Whatever it was, I couldn't find any trace of it in the stomach. The veterinary took the body away and made a complete autopsy."

"He discovered anything?"

"Yes. The blood was congealed and on the upper lip he found a circle of small pustules. He agreed that both dogs probably swallowed something that was left in my office, though I don't see how it could have got there."

"That won't do," returned Average Jones positively. "A dog doesn't cry out when he swallows poison, unless it's some corrosive."

"It was no corrosive. I examined the mouth."

"What about the radiator?" asked Average Jones, getting down on his knees beside that antiquated contrivance.

"It seems to have been the center of disturbance."

"If you're thinking of fumes," replied the chemist, "I tested for that. It isn't possible."

"No. I suppose not. And yet, there's the curious feature that the fatal influence seems to have emanated from the corner which is the most remote from both windows and door. There's no fire-escape and it's too far up for anything to come in from the street."

Average Jones examined the walls with attention and returned to the big keyhole, through which he peeped. After politely offering some chewing gum to his host, he chewed up a single stick thoroughly. This he rolled out to an extremely nervous consistency and spread it deftly across the unused keyhole, which it completely though briefly closed.

"Now, what's that for?" inquired the chemist, eyeing the improvised closure with some contempt.

"Don't know, exactly yet," replied the chemist cheerfully.

"All right," agreed young Mr. Dorr. "Whatever your little game is, I'll play it. Give me your address in case you leave town."

"As I may do. I am going to hire a press-clipping bureau on special order to dig through the files of the local and neighboring city newspapers for recent items concerning dog-poisoning cases."

Dog-poisoning seemed to Average Jones to have become a popular pastime, judging from the news items from the clipping bureau. Several days were exhausted by false clues. Then one morning there arrived an article from the Bridgeport Morning Delinquent detailing the poisoning of several dogs under peculiar circumstances.

Average Jones recognized the type. He knew of but one way to deal with it and retain self-respect.

"Jones!" he retorted with such astounding emphasis that the moonlight fairly exploded in the other's face.

"Well, well, well," said the elder man, his aspect suddenly mollified. "Don't bite me. What kind of a Jones are you, and what do you want of me?"

"Ordinary variety of Jones. I want to know about your dog."

"Had my reporters on this case. Found nothing. I own the Bridgeport Delinquent."

"What about the dog?"

"Good boy," approved the old martinet. "Sticks to his point. Dog was with me crossing a vacant lot on next square. Chased a rat. Rat ran into a heap of old timber. Dog nosed around. Gave a yelp and came back to me. Had spasm. Died in fifteen minutes. Fourth dog to go the same way in the last week. All on Golden Hill."

"Any suspicions?"

"Suspicious? Certainly, young man, certainly. Look at this."

Average Jones took the smutted newspaper proof which his host extended, and read:

Van Loan had refused, being a reasonably modest man with a poor stage presence and a bad speaking voice. On the night of the lecture Cobb walked out upon the stage alone, hailed Van Loan in a box and proceeded to flay him alive in an introductory speech.

At the end of his lecture it was Cobb's custom to answer questions, but when he thought the people had had enough for their money he would place his hand on his forehead, which would be the signal for his manager, in the rear of the house, to ask him the WARNING—RESIDENTS OF THE Golden Hill neighborhood are earnestly cautioned against unguarded handling of timber about woodpiles or outbuildings until further notice. Danger.

"Who offered it?"

"Professor Moseley. Tenant of mine. Frame house on the next corner with old-fashioned conservatory. Acted half-crazy when he brought it to the office, so the business manager said. Wouldn't sign his name to the thing. Wouldn't say anything about it. Begged the manager to let him have the weather reports in advance, every day. The manager put the advertisement in type, decided not to run it, and returned the money."

"Weather reports, eh?" Average Jones mused for a moment. "How long was the ad to run?"

"Until the first hard frost."

"Has there—er—been a—er—frost since?" drawled Average Jones.

"No."

"Who is this Moseley?"

"Don't know much about him. Scientific experimenter of some kind, I believe. Very exclusive," added Mr. Curtis Fleming, with a grin. "Never associated with any of us neighbors. Rent on the next, though. Insane, too, I think. Writes letters to himself with nothing in them."

"How's that?" inquired Average Jones.

The other took an envelope from his pocket and handed it over. "It got hold of by mistake with the copy for the advertisement. The handwriting on the envelope is his own. Look inside."

A glance had shown Average Jones that the letter had been mailed in New York on March 25. He took out the inclosure. It was a small slip of paper. The date was stamped on with a patched-up conservatory on one wing. In the front room they found the refuse of the dog decently disposed, with an undertaker's assistant in charge. From the greenhouse came a subdued hissing.

"What's that?" asked Jones.

Fumbling the conservatory. There was a note found near the body insisting on its being done. "For safe," it said, so I ordered it looked to. Come and look at his papers. You won't find much."

In the old-fashioned desk, among a heap of undecipherable matter, apparently bearing upon scientific experiments, were three self-addressed envelopes bearing New York postmarks, of dates respectively, March 12, March 14 and March 20. Each contained a date-stamped sheet of paper, similar to that which Mr. Curtis Fleming had shown to Average Jones.

The one of earliest date bore two red dots; the second, three red dots; and the third, two. All the envelopes were indorsed in Professor Moseley's handwriting; the first with the one word "Filled." The second writing was "Held for warmer weather." The last was inscribed "One in poor condition."

Of these Average Jones made careful note. The two men went to the conservatory and gazed upon a ruin of limp leaves and faded petals, killed by the powerful gases. Suddenly, with an exclamation of astonishment, the investigator stooped and lifted from the floor a marvel of ermine body and pale-green wings. The moth, spreading nearly a foot, was quite dead.

"Here's the mate, sir," said the investigating expert, handing him another specimen, a trifle smaller. "The place with a rubber stamp. There was no writing of any kind. Near the center of the sheet were three dots. They seemed to have been made with red ink.

"What's your interest in all this, my mysterious young friend?"

"Two dogs in New York poisoned in something the same way as yours."

"Well, I've got my man. He confessed."

"Confessed?" echoed Average Jones.

"Practically. I've kept the point of the story to the last. Professor Moseley cut his throat about nine o'clock this morning," pursued the other.

"Dead when they found him?"

"Do you mind not talking to me for a minute?" said Average Jones curtly.

"Told to hold my tongue in my own house by an uninvited strapping," chuckled the other. "You're a singular young man. Have it your own way."

After a five minutes' silence the visitor turned from the window and spoke. "There has been a deadly poison loose about here for which Professor Moseley felt himself responsible. He had killed himself. Why?"

"Because I was on his trail," declared Mr. Curtis Fleming. "Afraid to face me."

"Nonsense. I believe some human being has been killed by this thing, whatever it may be, and that the horror of it drove Moseley to suicide."

"Prove it."

"Give me a morning paper."

His host handed him the current issue of the Delinquent.

Average Jones studied the local page.

"Where's Galvin's Alley?" he asked presently.

"In the Golden Hill section."

"Yes."

"Read that."

Mr. Curtis Fleming took the paper. His eyes were directed to a paragraph telling of the death of an Italian child living in Galvin's Alley. Cause, convulsions.

"By jove!" he said, somewhat awed. "You can reason, young man."

"I've got to reason a lot further, if I'm to get anywhere in this affair," said Average Jones with conviction. "Do you care to come to Galvin's Alley with me?"

Together they went down the hill to a poor little house, marked by white crepe. The occupants were Italians who spoke some English. The dead child's father said a queer, bent little gentleman, very bald and with big eyeglasses, who was kind, and went with them and gave them money to bury the "bambino."

"Moseley, by the Lord Harry!" exclaimed Mr. Curtis Fleming. "But what was the death agent?"

Average Jones shook his head. "Too early to do more than guess. Will you take me to Professor Moseley's place?"

The old house stood four-square, "planted" question: "Are you going back?" This was the cue for a neat retort from the lecturer, followed by a staccato of the question, and on the laughter and applause thus obtained Cobb would make a graceful exit. After the Los Angeles lecture, Cobb filled an appointment in a near city and Van Loan, still smarting from his public humiliation at Cobb's hands, went along for company. The manager could not be present, and in the emergency Cobb planted the closing question with Van Loan, rehearsing him several times.

"When I put my hand up, so you ask me 'Are you going back?' Just that way, remember, because the word 'back' of the question is important—'Are you going back?' And speak up loud."

The lecture was a great success, and at its close the questions came thick and fast. First there was a tub and Cobb put his hand to his forehead and waited to make his snappy retort, but this was what came floating up from the back of the house:

"Where do you go from here?"

Why Some Folks Swear. French speech is full of secularized oaths like "Parbleu!" and the English of oaths like "By gum!" and "By ginger!" Did not Socrates swear "By the dog?"

Obviously swearing of this kind is in the nature of a gesture rather than of an oath. The New York Evening Telegram observes.

It is an attempt to elevate prose above dulness, to keep language from falling asleep.

Swearing springs from a desire to give and—let us say—peep through the keyhole.

Malcolm Dorr got up and stretched himself slowly. The sharp, clean lines of his face suddenly stood out again under the creamy flesh.

"I don't know what you're going to do to Mr. Ross," he said, "but I want to see him first."

"I'm not going to do anything to him," returned Average Jones. "He is in the first place, I suspect that he is far, far away, having noted, doubtless, the phony keyhole and suffered a crisis of the nerves. It's strange how nervous your scientific experiments were, three self-addressed envelopes bearing New York postmarks, of dates respectively, March 12, March 14 and March 20. Each contained a date-stamped sheet of paper, similar to that which Mr. Curtis Fleming had shown to Average Jones."

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before they are absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexions, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanse the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

PROVEN SWAMP-ROOT

AIDS WEAK KIDNEYS

The symptoms of kidney and bladder troubles are often very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. The kidneys seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to dangerous kidney troubles.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which soon heals and strengthens the kidneys, is a splendid kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who use it.

A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Better get a bottle from your nearest drug store, and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When it comes be sure and mention this paper—Adv.

MEANS A LONG STAY

ARMY OFFICERS BELIEVE JOB IN MEXICO WILL TAKE CONSIDERABLE TIME.

FEAR MEXICANS MAY FIGHT

Factions May Unite Against Northern Invasion—Pershing's Good Work in the Philippines—Naval and Congressional Circles in Controversy.

By GEORGE CLINTON.

Washington—Army officers here say there is no blinking the fact that as the United States government has been obliged to send an army into Mexico it will be forced to stay there for a long time before it completes its work. There are some military men in Washington who declare that the comparatively small force sent into Mexico for punishing purposes and with orders to stay there until the job is completed, probably will be as long at the work as would a larger force engaged in a much broader field of operations.

Of course as has been said by military men and laymen scores of times, if a big army eventually goes into Mexico it will go because the necessity seems to be that it must fight the followers of all factions in the southern country including the adherents of the so-called government under Carranza. So if an American army goes in, that is a big army and not merely a punitive force, it will mean that the Mexicans, spurred by what they think is a pricking of real patriotism, will have joined together to fight the northern invader.

If the Carranza following holds off the work of the United States troops will concern itself only with the bandit bands, out before these can be rounded up and the work of pacification completed it is held by many Washington officials that a long time will have elapsed, much money will have been spent and probably many lives will have been lost.

How the Army Views It.

This is the army view of the matter and it is based on what has happened in Mexico and on this side of the border in the years that are past. Col. G. A. Dodd of the cavalry is in command of a part of the troops on the border. If Colonel Dodd does not know how to treat bandits and how to fight them probably no man in the American army does. There are a good many officers on the retired list who have been into Mexico in pursuit of hostile Apaches and there are more of them who have fought Mexican bandits in the chaparral and desert country along the Rio Grande.

Colonel Dodd when he was a captain in the Third cavalry was in the field for two years against Mexican bandits aided by some Texas-Mexicans, who constantly were raiding back and forth across the border and who as a rule made the chaparral country south of the Nueces river their lurking places.

It took the United States government nearly two years to capture about 300 Mexican and Mexican-Texas bandits. The operations against these thieves and desperadoes began early in 1892 and lasted until the latter part of the year 1893. The reason for the success of the outlaws in eluding the troops was that the nature of the country in which they were committing their depredations was such as to make concealment easy and effective pursuit almost impossible.

It should be remembered that these operations largely were conducted on the American side of the border. At that time American troops were forbidden to cross into Mexico, but no such inhibition held in regard to the men whom they were trying to capture. The outlaws went back and forth at will. If the American troops had been allowed to cross the river the chances are that the career of the bandits would have been cut much shorter than was the case.

Chased Indians Into Mexico.

In the early '80s and somewhat later, under an agreement with Mexico, American troops were allowed to cross into the southern country when actually in pursuit of hostile Indians. Some officers now on the active list of the United States army took part in these trailing expeditions into the mountains of Mexico and into the desert regions where the bandits of today will betake themselves if pressed by American troops.

It took the troops a long time to put an end to the Apache raidings. Geronimo and the other Apache chiefs with their bands considered themselves virtually safe if they could once get across the line into the fastnesses of Mexico. The bandits of today may go where the Apaches went and it is probable that following them will be colonels and lieutenant colonels who as first and second lieutenants followed the same trails when in pursuit of the Apaches.

Army officers say that this section of Mexico is one of the worst in the world in which to conduct a campaign with any hope of success. The country is rough and for long stretches it is waterless. One expedition which went into Mexico in pursuit of Indians could not find water for two days and the men came near perishing. With this expedition was Lieut. John W. Heard, who is now a lieutenant colonel of cavalry stationed in Texas. Heard once said that the expedition probably was saved by a mule which seemed to scent water and which breaking away from the expedition led those in pursuit of it straight to a spring.

Pershing Won His Way.

Much has been written and printed about Brig. Gen. John J. Pershing, United States army, the commander in chief of the punitive expedition sent across the border into Mexico to round up Francisco Villa and his followers. Many of the things which he has accomplished as a soldier have been printed, but there are some things which seem to have been overlooked by the record scribes.

No one seems to have given as yet the exact circumstances connected with Pershing's coup in the Philippines, by which he won his star as a brigadier general. He was captain of cavalry, and he happened to be near the Lake Lanao country with his troops at a time when there were no officers of superior rank present, although there was a considerable body of troops in the immediate vicinity.

In the section of the country in which Pershing was stationed there was some cavalry, some infantry, and if memory is all right, some field artillerymen. There were troops enough there of the different branches to form, when combined, a miniature brigade. There were the elements present necessary for a mixed brigade, but there were not enough to make it proper in a military sense to call the assemblage a brigade.

However, it was a brigade in form, and Pershing happened to be a senior captain present. In the absence of majors, lieutenant colonels and colonels he therefore became the commanding officer of what, for courtesy's sake, was called a brigade. He took his troops, cavalrymen, infantrymen and artillerymen into the Lake Lanao district and there fought a hard fight and cleaned up what was a very dirty situation, or at least so one might express it from a military point of view.

Following this exploit, Theodore Roosevelt, who was then president of the United States, mentioned Pershing's name in a message to congress, saying that he wished that he could promote the captain to a majority or a lieutenant colonel, in order to show appreciation of his fine service in the Philippines.

The law is such that the president of the United States cannot promote an officer except to the grade of brigadier general. When the opportunity came, Roosevelt promoted Captain Pershing and made him Brigadier General Pershing.

Controversy Over Submarines.

A controversy still is raging in naval circles and in legislative circles concerning the usefulness of submarines. As has been pointed out before in Washington dispatches, there is a wide difference of opinion among the members of the senate naval committee over this submarine matter. The chairman of the committee is said to favor submarines at the expense of dreadnaughts, while most of the members take issue with the chairman and favor dreadnaughts at the expense of submarines.

For a year and five months now this submarine matter has been causing disputes in congress and in the American navy.

In September, 1914, a German submarine, the U-9, performed a feat which astonished navy men all over the world. The U-9 won a long clearance from its base and sunk three second-line cruiser destroyers. At that time it was said that upon the report of the captain of the U-9 when it finally was turned in might depend the fates of the navies of the world.

Some time ago, after the exploit of the U-9, it was reported on seemingly good authority that one of the under-the-sea boats had made a voyage from the vicinity of the North sea to the Bosphorus without replenishing its fuel. This feat was so much more extraordinary than the voyage of the U-9 that naval officers in America began to believe that dreadnaughts were to be done away with for all time and that the future navies would consist principally of speedy battleship cruisers and of an enormous number of submarines.

Then all at once there came stories that the British navy authorities had found means which were effective to offset the attacks of submarines and moreover to cut short the career of the under-the-sea boats before they could get in their deadly work. Then the American authorities, naval and legislative, had to study the subject all over again. They tried hard to get the truth concerning the British reports as they tried hard to get the truth concerning the reports which came from Germany. The stories have been so conflicting that the camps are about equally divided today between the submarine advocates and the dreadnaught advocates.

Many Experiments Made.

All sorts of experiments have been made by the naval authorities of the world to protect warships from under-the-sea torpedo attacks. No one knows definitely, as has been intimated in the foregoing, whether something absolutely adequate to the work of protection has been secured. There are some naval authorities who say that inventive genius seemingly has not reached the stage where it can produce a perfect protection for a big warship without so handicapping its movements as to make its means of defense destroy its usefulness in offense.

Congress today is uncertain in preparing its program for an increase in the navy as to whether or not it is wiser to build little ships or big ships. The question may not be answered definitely for some years, and in the meantime the United States must take chances that its naval program will prove to be adequate to the occasion.

Everybody to His Tasts.

Different tastes demand different breeds; one fancier will favor the pet, another the sporting strain. In selecting a dog, the buyer should insist on one with a pedigree. This guarantees that his breeding has been right; that he has not been inbred, and that you have a dog with a good future. They may cost more, but you have a dog that you can place in competition at any authorized kennel show and help build up better dogs in your community.

Supply of Fat a Necessity.

Fats, which form about 15 per cent of the weight of the body, are found in meats, vegetable products, butter and other fatty foods. It is largely through an excess of fat that protein is stored in the body, to be drawn upon when needed.

Uses It Himself.

"De man dat has sense enough to give good advice," said Uncle Eben, "is mostly too busy thinking 'foh his own needs to pass out free instructions."

Preparedness.

"Goodness, Maria, why are you hiding all the music so carefully?" "Well, John, the Puffers are calling on us to night, and you know Mrs. Puffer never plays without music."

Objected to Common Term.

"Billingsgate" is an accepted term for vituperative language. A speaker in a political club wished to vary this expression in chiding an opponent, and criticized him for using "fishmarket language." Thereupon another member rose and protested against this phrase. "I have been a fish dealer for thirty years," he said, "and have never heard any bad language used in my business. The fish business is a respectable one, and should not be the subject of a slur."

her deep respect for her, her desire to shield her and spare her sorrow and then had declared that her husband was false to her.

"He goes to see a certain lady every day," said Minna. "Don't Minna spare yourself grief. Men are all alike. It can do no good to unmask him. Let the episode pass."

"Never!" Lura was aroused and then Minna had said: "Very well, I will take you tomorrow where you shall see for yourself," and she had kept her word, for looking across a court between two hotel buildings in a room Lura saw her husband and a woman she did not know. The latter smiled at Sydney Davenal. "She playfully stroked his face, she even kissed him."

Lura was heartbroken. Viewing her with a crafty eye, Minna began to give advice. Why not abandon this false husband? At least, teach him a lesson, disappear, if only temporarily. From a distance bring him to his feet in humiliation and contrition!

And to all this poor distressed Lura listened, never dreaming that a woman at heart a wicked plotter was bent on separating her from a man she had once loved.

"Yes, yes," she sobbed, "take me somewhere away from this heart-break and sorrow!"

"I have a cousin, a Mrs. Lavery, a widow, living about a hundred miles from here, who will be glad to give you a temporary home," suggested the specious Minna, and Lura, half mad with her grief and suspicions, agreed to be at a place Minna named later that afternoon, prepared for the journey. She was to bring her grip and Minna was to convey her to the train and start her on her way to seclusion and safety, as she put it.

Lura returned home in tears and made her preparations for departure, sobbing heartbreakingly. She wrote a brief note to her husband, telling him that she had discovered his perfidy and that she would never return to him. She placed this on a stand in their room, where he would be sure to see it. Then she left the house.

Lura was unfamiliar with the address Minna had given her. She had told her it was a quiet restaurant and to go to its side door and wait in a secluded rear room. Lura in her urgency and confusion of mind arrived a half hour ahead of the appointed time.

The False Friend

By ALVAH GARTH

(Copyright, 1916, by W. G. Chapman.)

"Oh! why did you bring me here—why did you ever tell me?"

Mrs. Lura Davenal, two years a bride, moaned and wept and drew back from the window whither suspense and suspicion and the subtle plotting of a woman she should never have trusted, led her.

She deemed Minna Burton a friend. She should never have placed faith in this false counselor. She knew she had been one of a group of admirers of her husband before his marriage, who had been particular never to go out with her, for her reputation was not a clean one, but he had been courteous to her. Minna had not seen much of him until the last month.

Then a lady friend of hers had intimated to Lura that Minna had told her secretly that she felt sorry for her because her husband was deceiving her.

The lady friend had brought about a meeting between the two. Lura had demanded to know the occasion of Minna's intimation. The latter, crafty, jealous schemer that she was, had hemmed and hawed and feigned embarrassment. Then, when firmly pressed by Lura, she had spoken of

"I will be down in a moment," stammered Lura and almost unconsciously left husband and guest. Her nerves were at fever heat. The note! Sydney must have found it. Yes, it was gone!

Lura sank to a chair, gasping for breath. What would Sydney think? How could she explain it all? Then suddenly a great cry of joy left her lips.

The note! The breeze coming through the open window had blown it where she saw it—under the bureau.

And Sydney Davenal marveled at the strange clinging devotion of his wife all that day, and the sweet, happy smile of supreme content that never after left her face.

How Not to Sneeze.

Everyone who attends church or goes to the theater or other places where people are assembled knows how embarrassing it is to have to sneeze with the usual unpleasant sounds that accompany such an outburst of our real nature, an exclamation caused by thinking quickly and following a simple little rule which will save us much annoyance.

When the itching comes over us which usually precedes a sneeze, all we have to do is to lay our finger across the upper lip directly beneath the nose and press firmly upon the lip for a few seconds.

The sneeze will leave without making itself heard.

The same result can be obtained by having the finger across the lower lip just above the chin and pressing rather firmly for a few moments.

Either of these acts will not attract attention and in almost every instance the person will be saved the annoyance of disturbing the entire audience.

His Honesty Worth $300.

"Say, lieutenant, I'm getting a little worried over this piece of jewelry. I found it in Madison Square garden Saturday night. I guess it must be worth a couple of hundred dollars."

Benjamin Nussbaum produced a diamond pendant of 50 stones, which he placed on the police lieutenant's desk. Nussbaum said he lived in a rooming house and was out of 'job. Detectives then visited Miss Gail Kane, a stage and movie actress, at her own home. Miss Kane proved her ownership of the pendant. To a reporter she said:

"It's all so wonderful, I'm tickled to death to get it back. A poor man found it and I gave him $300 as a reward. The pendant was worth about $5,000."—New York Times.

Safe to Jump on Him.

"Safety first" seems to be the motto of some of the judges in the West Indies. When an alien prisoner is brought before them they consider the possibility of a gunboat from the culprit's native land popping in to make trouble.

It is told that a Haiti magistrate on examining a prisoner found that he was from Switzerland.

"Switzerland," he mused. "Switzerland has no seacoast, has it?"

"No seacoast, your honor," said the interpreter.

"And no navy?"

"No navy, your honor."

"Very well, then," said the judge. "I'll give him a year at hard labor."

Poisons in the Dark.

A writer in Farm and Fireside gives some ingenious ways to identify poison bottles in the dark and to eliminate all chance of accident from mistaking drugs. "The safest method is to run a cord through the cork, leaving about eight inches of string on opposite sides of the cork. Then drive the cork in as tightly as possible and the string will be in position to be pulled out and the bottle will be opened intentionally. If there are no babies on the place, an easier method is to run three or four pins, criss-cross through the cork. The pins sticking into the fingers will prevent accidental use of the contents."

No Bed of Roses.

"Does a man need influence to secure a government clerkship?"

"No," replied the observing citizen. "But if some of these ideas about hours and the compensation go through there would have to be a lot of influence brought to bear to get me to take one."

Cause for Prohibition.

"How did Crimmon Gulch happen to vote for prohibition?" "Well," replied Three Finger Sam. "so many of the boys got tired of owing money to the saloons that they thought the best thing to do was to put 'em out of business."—Washington Star.

This Year's Model.

Modern Schoolboy—"Teacher, would you mind telling my chauffeur I'm kept in and that he'll have to wait?"—Puck.

Lost Perspective.

"You say Senator Guff has been defeated after spending nearly 20 years in office?"

"Yes."

"Too bad for a man to lose out after laboring so long for his country."

"That's just the trouble. His constituents claimed that when he became a national figure he no longer considered large appropriations for 'improvements' in his state of more importance than the interests of the country at large."

SOME WESTERN CANADA GRAIN REPORTS

In its issue of February 24th, 1916, the Wadena (Minn.) Pioneer Journal has the following has subscription to his news paper. "The times we are having up here are very good in spite of the war. I have had very good crops this fall and we are having very good markets for it all. Wheat went from 30 to 60 bu. to the acre, oats from 50 to 100 bu. to the acre. I had an 18-acre field of oats which yielded me 115 bu. per acre by machine measure, so I think this is a pretty prosperous country. I have purchased another quarter section, which makes me now the owner of three-quarters of a section of land. The weather was very nice this fall up to Christmas, then we had quite severe weather, but at the present time it is very nice again."

Oats 115 Bushels Per Acre.

"I lived many years in Alberta; filed a homestead in the Edmonton district; own property in several parts of Alberta. I found it one of the best countries I ever saw, its banking system is better than that of the United States; one quarter section I own, with about $4,000.00 worth of improvements, pays $18.00 a year taxes. All tax is on the land; implements and persons are not taxed. I was secretary-treasurer of Aspinhead school district for two years. My duties were to assess all the land in the district, collect the tax, expend it ($1,000.00 a year), hire a teacher, etc. for the sum of $25.00 a year. Some economy, eh?"

"All school and road taxes are expended in the districts where they are collected. There are no other taxes. Land titles are guaranteed by the government and an abstract costs fifty cents. Half of the population of Alberta are Americans or from Eastern Canada. (Sd.) WILL TRUCKEN-MILLER." Advertisement.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS IF BACK HURTS

Says Too Much Meat Forms Uric Acid Which Clogs the Kidneys and Irritates the Bladder.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, uric acid, stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

SEED CORN

TO MY FRIENDS, THE FARMERS—
And when I say "My Friends" I mean just that. I know there are a lot of seed men who tell you how much they think of you and your family and the children (when they have never seen) on the one hand, while they are trying to take your money away from you while they do it.

We grow our own Seed Corn—we know what it is and the conditions under which it was raised, and there's one thing it's a pretty good idea to keep in mind—GOOD SEED CORN IS SCARCITY this year, and there are a lot of people—knowing that—who are figuring on a neat little profit by offering scoop shovel and elevator corn for seed, and much of it is 1914 corn too—at a price way below what good Seed Corn can possibly be furnished at.

They don't care what results you get from it NEXT FALL as long as they get your money for it THIS SPRING. They'll be doing somebody else next year. We've been here for thirty-two years and expect to be here as many more—we've got the goods and we're here to face the music and back them up. We don't try to sell you cheap, low-grade corn unit for seed at a cheap price, but we do sell you the highest grade of Seed Corn at a fair price. If you try to buy 50c per bushel by buying cheap, low-grade, Seed Corn and get twenty bushels less per acre yield, I don't have to figure out for you how much you lose.

And one thing more—You hear a lot this year from men who have gotten themselves into the newspapers telling you that corn grown in Southwestern Iowa will not mature in the Northern Counties of Iowa, Illinois and Southern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan; but once more facts are facts and our Diamond Joe's Early White, Mammoth Early Iowa Dent, and many other of our varieties have been maturing in every county in Iowa, Southern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan for 25 years, but you do not hear these men trying to explain that. You can explain a whole lot on theory, and it sounds good, but when you've got the actual facts to back you up, theory goes into the discard.

And FACTS and RESULTS are the things that talk. Good seeds are bound to make satisfied customers.

And just remember one thing—if you have got to have an operation, you don't go to do it. You go to the best specialist in that line you can find. Why? Because it pays you.

It's the same proposition with Seed Corn. Go to the man who makes Seed Corn growing a specialty, who knows what he is giving you for Seed Corn, and who will back it up in every way—let you test it, try it and if not satisfied, return it and get your money back. You take no chances. Special Prices if you order from this advertisement before May 1st.

SEED CORN

TO MY FRIENDS, THE FARMERS:—I mean just that. I know there are a lot of good men who tell you how much they think of you and your family and the children (whom they have never seen) on the one hand, while they are trying to take your money away from you while they do it.

I can't hand you any of that kind, because, for one thing, it isn't in my line, and for another, I wouldn't insult your intelligence enough to try to make you believe it. But I can tell you some plain facts about the Seed Corn situation this year that will mean money in your pockets and that means a lot more to your family than a lot of hot air.

Nor am I going to tell you that I'm selling Seed Corn solely for your benefit. THAT'S another thing I believe you are too intelligent to swallow. But I can tell you how my life's work—its what I've done all my life and what I expect to do for the rest of my life. Our business has grown steadily for thirty-two years, and there's a reason why. There always is.

We grow our own Seed Corn. We know what it is and the conditions under which it was raised, and there's one thing it's a pretty good idea to keep in mind.
